MARSHALL GIVES DR. BROOKS BIG WELCOME AT OPENING SPEECH

PLATFORM OF WACO CANDIDATE FOR SENATE AROUSES ENTHUSIASM OF EAST TEXAS METROPOLIS—CONCISE DELINEATION OF POLICIES.

CANDIDATE IS CAMPAIGNER

Wears Out Several Relays of Men in His Personal Rounds of Residents. Shook Hands With Railroad Workmen in Texas and Pacific Sheds. Many Pledge Support.

Special to the Morning News

Marshall, Texas, March 2.—Dr. S. P. Brooks of Waco opened his campaign for United States senator here tonight, addressing a large crowd in the Auditorium. He arrived last night and spent the entire day today on his feet, greeting all with whom he came into contact. If he saw a man whom he had missed he went after him, shook his hand and explained his business. He went through the Texas and Pacific shops at noon and shook hands with the men there and as they had not thoroughly washed up, his hands were about as grimy as theirs when he got through. He wore out several relays of men who accompanied him and these declare that as a campaigner they have never seen anything like him. If he can keep up this personal contact business until July 22 he will have proven himself a physical marvel, at least. He made a splendid impression and an unexpectedly large number openly expressed themselves in his favor.

Dr. Brooks was introduced by H. M. Price, president of the Business Men's club, which has invited him and all other senatorial candidates to open here, and provided a reception committee of business men and a band. A good sized audience greeted him with warm and the applause frequent and liberal.

Practically every matter advocated by Dr. Brooks met approval, but that which received loudest applause was when he declared that he believed in Woodrow Wilson's domestic and foreign policy "up to the hilt," and again when he aligned himself as an American and a democrat with the president's foreign policy.

Many went to the stage at the conclusion of the address to greet the candidate personally and express their approval of his platform.

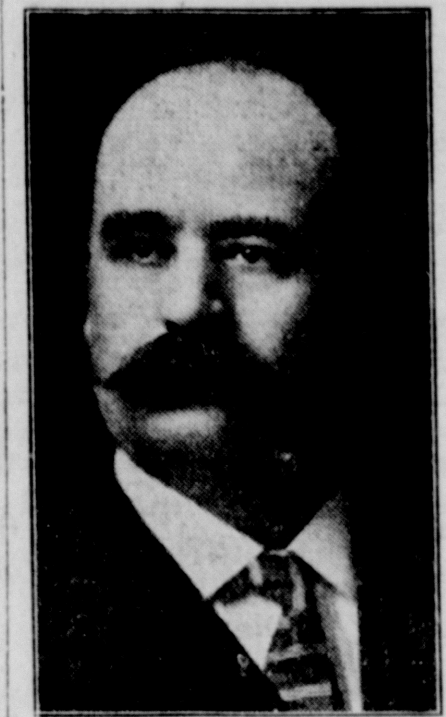

Dr. Brooks spoke as follows:

Candidacy to All the People.

I come to you as a new man in the political arena, offering myself as a candidate for the opportunity to be of service to my country. I have never held any political office. I have not even been encouraged to run by the self-styled "old guard" who have long held the offices of Texas or been beneficiaries of those who did. In fact, I think they regard it an impertinence that I should offer without first having taken orders from them as political masters.

Cleveland Man Asks Police Assistance in Killing Child

By the Associated Press

Des Moines, Ia., March 2.—The action of Dr. Harry J. Haiselden of Chicago in permitting the death of the defective Bollinger baby several weeks ago was recalled today in this city by Charles Cleveland, a laborer, who asked the chief of police for assistance in killing his two-months-old daughter.

Cleveland spoke with discouraged earnestness. "Chief," he said, "won't you tell me how I can kill my baby so it won't be against the law? Maybe you'll help me, so it will be all right, like that baby in Chicago."

Dr. Brooks spoke as follows:

Candidacy to All the People.

I come to you as a new man in the political arena, offering myself as a candidate for the opportunity to be of service to my country. I have never held any political office. HOUSE COMMITTEE AGREES ON TERMS OF ARMED MEASURE

TOTAL PEACE STRENGTH OF 700,000 MEN AUTHORIZED IN BILL WHICH WILL BE UNANIMOUSLY REPORTED EARLY PART OF NEXT WEEK.

NAVY IS DECLARED EFFICIENT

Daily Balances of Chicago Bank Entered as Evidence in Sinal Investigations to Prove Influence of Harvester Company—Witnesses Testify as to Brandeis High Standing.

Special to the Morning News

Washington, March 2.—Final agreement was reached by the house military committee late today on its bill for the increase of the army and it will be reported unanimously to the house early next week. In round figures the measure would authorize the formation of an army composed of regulars, national guardsmen and federal volunteers, with a total peace strength of approximately 700,000 men.

It provides for a maximum strength of 170,000 fighting troops for the regular army, for a minimum of 45,000 for the National Guard within five years, and for organization of federal volunteers through an extension of a summer training camp idea. It is estimated that one hundred thousand men can be enrolled in the latter force. The bill retains provision for organization of industrial and technical reserves behind the fighting lines and authorizes the creation of a board of national defense to coordinate mobilization in time of war or imminence of war. It also provides that manufacturers of war materials must give immediate preference to government orders in war or when there is danger of war, under heavy penalty for failure to do so.

While the minimum strength of the regular army remained at 140,000, a change was made before the final vote to fix the maximum of fighting troops at 170,000, bringing the total authorized strength of the regular force, including the hospital corps and other non-combatant troops, to 190,000.

While all members of the committee will sign the bill, they do so under the reservation that they may support upon the floor of the house any amendment they desire.

The senate military committee expects to vote finally upon its army bill, too, and it is possible the first of the preparedness measures urged by President Wilson will be placed before both houses of congress Saturday.

CHIEF OPPOSITION TO THE PRESIDENT'S FOREIGN POLICY COMES FROM DEMOCRATS

Special to the Morning News

Washington, March 2.—Out of a day's developments in President Wilson's fight with congress, crowded to the utmost with elements of the sensational and dramatic, the administration forces in the senate tonight emerged with pledges of enough votes to kill once and for all Senator Gore's resolution to warn Americans off armed ships of the European belligerents and demonstrate that congress stands behind the president in his negotiations with Germany.

Action in the senate, it is believed, will be followed promptly by stifling of sentiment in the house against the president's foreign policy.

Allies Claim Advantages in Fighting Around Verdun

By the Associated Press

The Germans have resumed their heavy offensive in the region of Verdun, with the French everywhere strongly opposing it. While over most of the front, from the east of the Meuse down to the Vosges region, the German big guns have been active, around Douaumont the Germans launched several infantry attacks of extreme violence. These, the French war office declares, were put down by the French troops, whose fire decimated the enemy ranks.

The situation remains unchanged on the Russian and Austro-Italian fronts. In Asia the Russians are keeping up their strong offensive against the Turks. Nothing definite has transpired with regard to the report that the German commerce destroyer Mowse has been captured and taken into Trinidad by British cruisers.

BOTH SENATE AND HOUSE BELIEVED WITH PRESIDENT

Startling Statement by Senator Gore of Rumor That War With Germany Would Not Be Unwelcome to Wilson Denied by White House. Oklahoman's Resolution to Be Tabled Today.

ADMINISTRATION LEADERS ARE CONFIDENT

Claims Made That Majority in Both Branches of Congress Will Vote Adversely to Proposed Warnings to Americans Not to Embark on Entente Armed Ships. Most of Opposition Is Coming from Democrats.

By the Associated Press

Washington, March 2.—Out of a day's developments in President Wilson's fight with congress, crowded to the utmost with elements of the sensational and dramatic, the administration forces in the senate tonight emerged with pledges of enough votes to kill once and for all Senator Gore's resolution to warn Americans off armed ships of the European belligerents and demonstrate that congress stands behind the president in his negotiations with Germany.

Action in the senate, it is believed, will be followed promptly by stifling of sentiment in the house against the president's foreign policy.

In one of the greatest non-partisan debates the senate has seen in years, Chairman Stone of the foreign relations committee declared he was not in accord with the president, Senator Lodge, the ranking republican, pledged his support to the president's determination to secure to Americans their rights on the high seas and Senator John Sharp Williams, just from a sick bed, delivered a withering denunciation of the president's opponents.

While the senate debated there came news to the state department from Berlin which convinced officials that the discussion in congress was being used deliberately to weaken the president's hand in Germany.

Confidential advisers state that reports circulated in the German capital as having come from Washington declared that congress stood 5 to 1 against the president.

Out of the senate debate came a turn which for the moment threatened to overshadow the real features of the discussion and the leaders were confident tonight of similar action there.

Robinson would Warn Americans

By the Associated Press

Brooklyn, N. Y., March 2.—Senator Robinson of Arkansas spoke before the Brooklyn Bar association advocating warning Americans off armed ships of European belligerents. After an exhaustive review of the controversy with Germany and the history of the arming of merchantmen for defense, he concluded:

"The president has earned the gratitude of all loyal Americans for his earnest efforts to preserve their rights and to maintain peace. He is entitled to support and encouragement in his further efforts to satisfactorily adjust this vexing question."

FEAR BREAK IN LEVEE NEAR BAYOU SARA

RESIDENTS FLEEING FOR HIGHER
POINTS WITH FEW POS-SESSIONS.

Water is Still Rising in Concordia, but
Is at Standstill in Tensas Parish.

New Orleans, March 2.—Residents are fleeing from Bayou Sara, fearing a break in the levee which protects that town from the Mississippi river flood, according to information received here tonight.

Bayou Sara is located on the boundary line of West Feliciana and Pointe Coupee parishes and is protected by a private levee. Weakening of the embankment was reported today and many of the inhabitants of the town left for higher points with what few belongings they could carry. Should a break occur at this point it is believed that St. Francisville, the parish seat, would be in danger of inundation.

Directly from Tensas and Concordia parishes in Northern Louisiana, inundated by water in through the break in the Mississippi river levee near Newellton, indicated that the overflow had reached its crest in Tensas, but still was rising in Concordia. Black river in Concordia parish continues to rise. The town of Monterey was flooded today.

Engineers tonight reported that all of the levees of the main Mississippi system were holding, but anxiety was expressed over the slow rate at which the river was receding. The engineers feared that the regular spring rise would catch the river at a flood stage and bring on further trouble. At a meeting of the National Reclamation association here tonight, $2,000 was raised toward a proposed sum of $15,000 to maintain a bureau at Washington to dispense information to Washington authorities relative to flood conditions along the Mississippi river. A committee was named to solicit the balance of the required $15,000.

Improved conditions in the flooded areas of Northern Louisiana, and strengthened levees were reported at the meeting by Major Caples, United States engineer in charge of this district.

Mardi Gras Opens With Many Visitors

New Orleans, March 2.—The 1916 Mardi Gras carnival was opened here tonight with an illuminated pageant of the Knights of Momus, in which the mythical story of "Pisicchio, the tale of a Marionette" was portrayed in elaborately decorated floats bearing characters in costume. The parade was followed by the Momus ball.

Hundreds of visitors already have arrived for the carnival, which is expected to continue through the night of Tuesday night. The battleship Kentucky and the destroyers Monaghan and Flusser are among the war vessels that will be here for the carnival.

Features of the festival include an industrial parade Saturday, the arrival on Monday of Rex, king of the carnival, who will enter the city from the "royal yacht" conveyed up the Mississippi by a fleet of all kinds of craft, followed by the pageant and ball of Proteus and his subjects at night; the carnival of masqueraders on the streets on Tuesday, Mardi Gras Day, with the Rex parade and the pageant ball Tuesday night of the Knights of Momus. The Rex ball Tuesday night will end the festival.

Ability to Throw Lasso Saves Life

Kansas City, March 2.—Ability to throw a lasso acquired ten years ago when an employee of the stockyards tonight enabled George Bell, a city freeman in Kansas City, Kan., to save the life of Frank Slatino, a truck driver, who was knocked from a viaduct and lodged many feet below in a maze of wires. Trouble was experienced reaching the suspended man until Bell secured a rope and dexterously tied a loop over Slatino's shoulders. Slatino was pulled to safety none the worse from his experience.

BENJAMIN ARGUMENDO EXECUTED AT DURANGO

CARRANZA OFFICIALS DENY THE PRESENCE OF FELIX DIAZ
AT OAXACA.

Citizens in Chihuahua Are Helping in Fight to Put Down
Bandits.

By the Associated Press.

El Paso, March 2.—General Benjamin Argumendo, leader of the opposition to the de facto government in Durango and the Laguna districts, was executed after court martial at Durango City yesterday at noon, according to a dispatch received here today from General Murguía, military commander of Durango state, by the Mexican consulate. The consulate also received an official dispatch from Mexico City stating that Zapata forces, defeated by Urmilas Puebla, are dividing into small groups. General Argumendo, it was stated, has been named governor of Durango state.

"It is ridiculous on all sides that Felix Diaz is in Oaxaca," the dispatch added.

"Official denial of operations by adherents of Felix Diaz in the Douglas district of Sonora, was made today by Mexican Consul Leleiver of Douglas, Ariz.

A amnesty has been granted General Canuto Reyes, rebel leader, by the Carranza government. It was announced today by General Gabriel Gavira, at Juarez. General Gavira added an emissary was now en route to the country south of Torreon, where Reyes is awaiting surrender.

Consul Leleiver, speaking of the activity of the alleged Diaz adherents, said that reports of Colonel Acosta having crossed the international line with fifty men to start a counter revolution had arisen through the activities of agitators who without arms had crossed and gone in the direction of Cananea with the expectation of stirring up discontent. They were being watched, he said.

General Calles had ordered the international border closely patrolled, the consul stated, and has sent officials to investigate the possibility of discontent at Cananea. As an additional protection he has augmented the garrisons at Naco, Agua Prieta, Fronteras, El Tigre and Cananea, Sonora, and planned to exterminate the reactionaries and prevent them from organizing on the border.

Citizens along the Chihuahua state border have been given arms by the Sonora state government to assist in the extermination of Chihuahua bandits.

O. W. Bourke, former mayor of Blue Island, a juror charged with agreeing to accept a bribe from Bert Wing, charged with being a go-between.

Mr. Frost in a statement denied the charges.

Providence Journal Is Victim of Fire

Providence, R. I., March 2.—A fire of uncertain origin, caused by a small explosion, caused damage of $200 in the office of the Providence Journal tonight.

The blaze started in the office of the managing editor among some newspaper files and spread to another of the editorial rooms.

A statement given out by the Journal said the explosion, which occurred a few minutes after the fire started, filled the room with flames which spread through the editorial rooms adjoining.

"After investigation, the police department arrived at the conclusion that the fire could not have been of accidental origin," the statement said.

BOTH SENATE AND HOUSE BELIEVE IN PRESIDENT

and probably ask for the support of the republicans in his determination to stand for the right of American citizens to travel the seas under the guarantees of international law. Later Mr. Mann would not indicate what he said to the president or how he would vote on a warning resolution, but it is generally understood a majority of the republicans would vote against one.

Many Conferences Held. After Representative Mann left, the president conferred for an hour with Secretary Lansing over the events in the senate and their effect on the situation.

Conferences of administration leaders in the senate were held as soon as the last word in the long-pent-up discussion had been uttered on the floor. Senator Stone closed himself to work out a plan for a substitute resolution. Meanwhile other democrats, among them Senators Kern, James, Martin, Swanson, Pomeroy, Clarke, Williams, Hughes, Simmons and Overman, retired to a committee room. Their first impulse was to support the declaration of Senator Gore regarding the reports of President Wilson's statements to congressional leaders. Deep regret over the utterances was voiced by nearly every senator present.

But this was passed over quickly and the conclusion was unanimous that decisive action be taken without further delay. Within less than an hour the plan for disposing of the issue without debate had been agreed upon. Then a statement of the attitude of Senator Stone and the republican senators was sought.

Senator Stone submitted suggestions for a substitute resolution which he thought might meet with general approval of the senate. The republicans who were seen stated frankly that they would vote for no resolution which in any way would serve to embarrass the president or smack of opposition to his course in the conduct of foreign affairs. Democrats argued that to submit a substitute necessarily would open the floodgates of oratory again and Senator Stone finally prevailed upon to give up his effort.

To Table Gore Resolution. The administration senators then agreed that a motion to table the Gore resolution should be made as soon as Senator Gore concluded whatever remarks he might wish to make in calling it up. With this decision reached, Senators Lodge, Smoot, Curtis and other republicans were informed of the plan. They at once agreed to the wisdom, but thought that some republicans might upon principle object to shutting off debate by voting to table another senator's proposal. When they had made a canvass of their colleagues, however, they reported that all but a few had consented to abide by the decision.

Then the senate was adjourned until 11 o'clock tomorrow. When the usual morning business is concluded, Senator Gore will call up his resolution and the motion to table will be offered. This will bring the issue at once to a vote.

It was agreed to adopt the same course with reference to the pending resolution by Senator Jones of Washington, expressing the sense of the senate that no ultimatum be sent to a foreign power without the consent of the senate, should the Washington senators call it up.

The storm broke in the senate promptly at noon today when Senator Stone arose to make a statement of his position in the warning controversy. When the senator had frankly stated that he differed with the president, but that he hoped a way could be found to bring the executive and congress in closer accord, he urged that prompt action was necessary to rid the president of the embarrassment he had complained of because of congressional agitation.

"Distressing as it is to me to be obliged to disagree with the president as well as many of my colleagues," he said, "my opinions have been matured after great deliberation and my sense of duty is imperative. I cannot but believe that a belligerent merchantman, heavily armed, no matter whether it be called defensive or offensive armament, is in all essential respects the equivalent of a duly commissioned war vessel."

Lodge With President. Senator Lodge rose on the republican side to defend the president's position. He agreed with Senator Stone in his conclusion that the issue was for the most important one before congress and that it should be squarely met, and urged that the president had a right to ask congress for a vote on the pending question of warning. In emphatic language he upheld the determination of the president that nothing should be done to abridge the rights of American citizens. "It is a right that has not been challenged for over a century."

As the republican leader took his seat Senator Williams, almost too ill to stand, began to speak. He said there came a time to the parting of the ways among all peoples, all administrations and all parties, and that such a time had come in the senate now.

"This proposal has not faced us because of any action of the president of the United States," he declared, "but which he has been compelled to confront by constant nagging, constant quizzing and constant expression of opinion in favor of the negotiations of a foreign power as against our own."

"The time has come when for me the question states itself this way: Shall I proclaim 'America first' or shall I sing 'Deutschland Uber Alles'?"

For the politics in this question Senator Williams asserted he had the highest contempt.

"To be an Anglo-maniac," he said, "is so contemptible that it is beyond expression. There is only one thing that is more contemptible, and that is to be an Anglo-phobe. To be a Teuto-maniac is contemptible, but there is something more contemptible than that, and that is to be Teuto-phobe."

As Senator Gore asked recognition from the chair, news of the debate had spread to the house and the senate chamber was crowded with representatives standing in every available space on the floor.

Senator Gore spoke at length on the issue before reaching the sensational statements regarding the president which precipitated the climax of the day.

Gore Startles Senate. Senator Gore's startling statement, which aroused the senate as it has not been aroused in years, came toward the close of impassioned remarks in defense of a warning resolution.

"I introduced this resolution," Senator Gore declared, "because I was apprehensive that we were sending diplomatic relations toward a precipice to go further and say what I have hitherto avoided saying, that my action was based on a report which seemed to come from the highest and most responsible authority, that certain senators and certain members of the house in a conference with the president of the United States received from the president the information that Germany had insisted upon her position and that it would result probably in a breach of diplomatic relations and that whatever the diplomatic relations would probably be followed by a state of war, and that a state of war might not be of itself and of necessity an evil to this republic, and that the United States by entering into war now might be able to bring it to a conclusion by midsummer and thus render a great service to civilization."

"I cannot say what the truth may be. I do not know. It was told to me. This came to my ears in such a way, with such a concurrence of testimony, with such internal evidence, with such truth as I feared might be the truth and if such a thing be even conceivable I do not feel that, discharging my duty as a senator, I could withhold whatever feeble service I might render to avert the catastrophe of war."

"Not only that, but this report is the truth. I simply suggest it as explaining my own conduct. I think the senator from Massachusetts and the senator from Indiana are right in saying that the president has a right to know whether congress will back him in the opinion, or he has such an opinion, that the sinking of an armed belligerent ship will be a sufficient cause for war, and I think, too, Mr. president, that members of the senate should know whatever the opinion and sentiments imputed to the president were given expression in their interview with him."

Put Up to Stone. "If the senator from Missouri (Mr. Stone) will deny that suggestions of that sort in substance were made, his denial would be conclusive. If not, the senator from Indiana (Mr. Kern) will say to the senate upon his responsibility as senator that he did not hear the president say that war might not be ungrateful and that this republic could render a great service to civilization, his denial will be conclusive."

"Mr. President, I do not know why the senator from Oklahoma quotes me as saying," interjected Senator Stone, "that I said that."

"I did not quote the senator as saying it, not at all," Senator Gore replied.

"If the senator from Missouri (Mr. Stone) will deny that suggestions of that sort in substance were made, his denial would be conclusive. If not, the senator from Indiana (Mr. Kern) will say to the senate upon his responsibility as senator that he did not hear the president say that war might not be ungrateful and that this republic could render a great service to civilization, his denial will be conclusive."

Wickedest Man on the Screen in "The Witch"

The wickedest man in the world is in the east in "The Witch," William Fox's latest contribution in powerful feature pictures. It is this man's first work in pictures, although he has been seen in several of the largest attractions on the legitimate stage. Not only has he been familiarly known as the wickedest man in the world, but also the most desperate.

He has led more intrigues against more republics, dynasties and monarchies than any other man alive. This interesting character is none other than Macey Harlam, whose chief role the last few years has been that of a revolution maker in big productions. The plays wherein he attracted world-wide attention were "Kismet," where he was cast as "The Beggar," "The Yellow Ticket," wherein he played the original part of the Russian secret agent, and more recently he took the part of the East Indian in "Inside the Lines."

Mr. Harlam's work in "The Witch" will be found to be intensely satisfying. As thus far he has appeared to excellent advantage before the camera.

MRS. T. E. JARMAN HOSTESS FOR MRS. MILLS BROWN

Dainty as the new spring time itself, and reminder of this same new season, were the details worked by Mrs. T. E. Jarman into her pretty bridge game of Wednesday. Mrs. Jarman extended her invitations in courtesy to her home guest, Mrs. Nannette McClintock Brown, of La Grange, and invited either to join the game or to meet Mrs. Brown as the luncheon passed, a number from among the young society matrons. Green and white was patron, and very effectively so. On the buffet, seen from both bridge rooms, was a cluster of dozens of green carnations.

From this followed the spring flowered score cards, Saint Patrick table markers, lighted prizes, and green effect in the luncheon plate, where the shamrock favor was noted. It was, as said, all just as dainty as the young hostess herself, in her pretty gown of pink. Mrs. Brown welcomed old friends, received introduction to new, and then the game was on, nine tables being used. On each was the white cover with hand-stitched spring flowers in their natural colors. Mrs. Irving Swann was assistant hostess. Edna Mayo Says Don't to Would-be Actress

Miss Edna Mayo, co-star with Henry Walthall in "The Strange Case of Mary Page," the moving picture series that is being shown at the Nickel theatre every Friday, advises girls to lay away their ambitions to get into the "movies."

Here is a part of a letter she wrote recently to a Waco girl who had written to Miss Mayo asking advice:

"You ask me how to get into moving pictures. My only answer is 'Stay out.' It is not the easy life it looks to be as you sit in your theatre chair and watch a production like 'The Strange Case of Mary Page.'"

"You say you would like to have a part like mine and wear gowns made by Lady Duff Gordon."

"I wish you could. I sincerely do, but I don't believe you can."

"I have been a very lucky girl, and I enjoy my work hugely, but I have seen much sorrow around me in my moving picture work. Hundreds are struggling along as extra girls, who never will get any farther—hundreds like you, who would be much happier at home with a husband and some kiddies."

"The chances are all against you. The battle is not worth the prize. My temperament is especially suited to moving picture work. I am strong and not easily disturbed. I enjoy my profession better, I believe, than I would a home. I have always been an actress. Ever since I was a little girl I have been appearing in public. I was fortunate, and I am happy."

"If you, who have a home and friends, stay with them."

"Do you realize that each scene in 'Mary Page' was taken over and over again until it was perfect? Do you realize the terrible tiredness that comes after a nerve-wrecking day's work before the camera under glaring lights?"

"I love to help girls who are struggling to get along in moving pictures. But the best help I can give them is to keep them out of it, to persuade them to stay at home, to marry one of those fine young men they know and to have a little home of their own."

FOR A FULL SCHOOL CENSUS.

Due to a change in the law, the school census this year will be taken in March rather than May and as the work will of necessity begin immediately it is well that the importance of getting a full census of the scholastic population in this city and county be stressed, for it is upon the number of children of scholastic age, regardless of whether they attend school, that the state makes its apportionments of the school fund to the various districts.

Waco and McLennan county have large school enrollments, but those enrollments have never included all the boys and girls within the scholastic age who ought to be in school, and if those who should be in school but are not, who come within the scholastic age, are left off the census rolls the schools of this city and county lose the apportionment that would come from the state in case these names were on the roll.

Enumerators of the school census
are generally teachers or other citizens who have an interest in educational affairs, and it is hardly necessary to suggest that they exercise every diligence in getting the names of every boy and girl within their respective districts who come within the scholastic age, for the remuneration of the enumerators is based upon the number of names enrolled. But there is a need of urging the parents and guardians of school children to co-operate to the fullest extent with the enumerators in order that no child may be overlooked.

The enumeration of the scholastics becomes more important this year than ever before in this state on account of the compulsory school attendance law
going into effect next September.
Some parents may be prone to refuse co-operation in obtaining the census
this year on that account, but that number is small, and it is readily realized that there can be no just enforcement of that law where by any kind of subterfuge the ages of children are given at other than those figures failing within the scope of the law.

And in view of the fact that the larger enrollment in other sections of the state will make larger demands upon the state treasury, perhaps, thus reducing the volume of the apportionment, it becomes all the more necessary that those schools which are alive
to their interests shall see to it that every child that comes within the scholastic age is properly enumerated.

GOOD EXAMPLE OF SELF-HELP.

The negroes of the city are to be cordially commended upon their effort
to bring about a general beautification
of their school grounds and home premises this season, in accordance with the plans of a contest just inaugurated by those of their number who are interested in race uplift. The Parent-Teacher associations of the various schools will beautify the school grounds and individual citizens will improve the home surroundings. And while the colored people are proceeding without asking any assistance from the whites—and we commend their spirit of self-help—there will be opportunities in which the white people of the city can render suggestions
and material assistance and we trust
they will do so.

From the manner in which the president is lambasting those recalcitrant members of congress it may develop that it will be unnecessary for him to name a successor to Mr. Garrison at all.

This paper has received the season's

PLAIN JUSTICE.

In the current issue of Collier's we find the following editorial expression:
"For civilians killed or hurt in its service the United States is one of the worst employers in the world.
Some thirty-three of our states have passed laws to compensate those injured in industrial accidents, but the federal government has not yet been shamed into justice in these matters.
Recently an explosion occurred in a submarine, E-2, undergoing repairs at the Brooklyn navy yard. Three civilians were killed and six injured, and it is a dire misfortune to the dependents of these men that they were not working for a private employer. The Kern-McGillieuddy bill (H. R. 476), which provides fair and decent treatment for such cases, has been before congress for over two years, and this killing ought to make plain the need of its immediate enactment. The bill is now in the hands of the house judiciary committee, Edwin Y. Webb, chairman, and any pressure on this committee to report it out will be a public service. If our national government is to be an increasingly large employer of civilians in all lines, it must be a fair employer. At present it is not."

It does look inconsistent for the government not to be as good an employer as private citizens and corporations, which latter are the creatures of the government. And the inconsistency becomes all the more glaring
when we consider the lavish hand with which we deal out pensions for political purposes to persons who have no legitimate claim whatever to support from the government.

Reliable statistics on the pension appropriations of the federal government show that there are 900,000 pensions now on the pension rolls, or nearly one person in every 100. Of this number 516,782, or nearly 49 per cent,
served only three months in the army or navy, they were never hurt, never contracted illness as a result of their enlistment or service, and yet they were given retiring allowances of from $15 to $30 a month. We are in favor of liberal pensions to those who are truly entitled to them, but with the political distribution of the government's funds to persons who are not entitled to them we have no more sympathy
than we have with the frequent roba-bery of the Oklahoma banks. The principle is about the same, that of getting something for nothing, but the pension steal has the sanction of the law, being an act of congress, while the other has not. Both the pension stealing and the bank robberies should be suppressed.

We are wondering if Teddy would have agreed with President Wilson on the latter's position on the right of Americans to travel on the merchantmen of the warring countries had he not been off down in Cuba. He might have mentally assented to the correctness of the president's position, but we doubt seriously if he would have done so orally had he been at home when the controversy over that proposition was at its highest. He has never said a good word for the president yet, and we do not anticipate that he will soon.

Miss Trula Martin, a brave Dallas girl, routed a negro chicken thief from her grandmother's premises, giving him a sound beating with a heavy board in the meantime. Those Dallasites who are opposed to the placing of women on the police force should shut their mouths. A few strong women to show the men how the thing is done is probably just what Dallas needs in order to get cleaned up.

During all these international and congressional wrangles through which President Wilson is passing it must be some relief to him to know that Henry Ford will not oppose him for the presidency, for if every owner of a Ford car and every man who has related a Ford story should vote for the Detroit manufacturer he would become a real contender for a seat in the white house.

Many Wacoans and others will be interested in the news that the Rev.
H. D. Knickerbocker, pastor of the Austin Avenue Methodist church in this city for four years, has been transferred from his charge at Temple to the pastorate of the First Methodist church at Houston, the order having just been made by Bishop J. H. McCoy, who is in Dallas.

St. Louis carries out her plan of segregating negroes in certain blocks
of the city and making white persons move out of blocks where negroes predominate, we hope the authorities will see to it that the negro residents are given the same access to public utilities and the same sanitary provisions
that are accorded those of the white race.

A male patient in a northern hospital has discovered that cabaret music
over the telephone is worth a great deal more to him as a recuperative influence than cigars, flowers and other things. And it doubtless follows that he will have to dance around pretty diligently to pay the bills, too, when he gets well.

COOKING AND PREPAREDNESS.

The National Housewives' league has undertaken a campaign, as a part of the general movement for national preparedness, to 'make good army timber'
of the men of the nation by feeding
them the right sort of food properly cooked, informs the Nashville Tennessian. The women who are leading the movement take the position that the duty rests upon every woman to so feed the members of her own household that, if they went out as volunteer
soldiers, they would be physically fit,
a thing which, they say, is not now
true. If the United States, they say, is ever to have a volunteer reserve
army made up of business and professional men, the women must look to the physical upbuilding of those men
by feeding them the kinds of food that make for stamina and general efficiency.

Doubtless the paragraphers and column writers will find in this material
for a very great number of funny
squibs, but everybody, even the para-graphers and column writers, will recognize the fact that this is a most excellent sort of preparedness. It is a well established fact that a properly fed man can do any kind of work much more effectively than a man who is not properly fed, and this is particularly true of work that requires physical endurance and alertness under any circumstances. The National Housewives' league is correct in the contention that a very large per cent of American men, fed as they are, would be useless as soldiers.

And it is probable that overfeeding
rather than underfeeding is the great contributing cause to this result. The man who eats his "three square meals"
a day, made up largely of meats, of overly rich and highly seasoned foods, becomes, in a comparatively short time, a big-bellied, flabby-muscled individual, who would be more of hindrance than of help to any army. He would fall by the wayside on the first forced march. Exhausted and gasping, he would be trodden under foot in the first strenuous charge.

The women of the nation have this matter pretty much in their own hands. For the most part, they feed the brutes. They doubtless desire to feed them properly, but most of the women do not know how to feed a man properly. If the women of the United States can be induced to learn and then to apply their knowledge, the United States could put into the field
ten years from today the most magnificent volunteer army the world ever saw.

But if no war comes in fifteen years,
or twenty or thirty, still the country
will have benefited beyond comparison.
The land inhabited by men physically fit for any task. The unsightly "bay window" would have vanished, the per capita earning power of American men would have been very materially increased. And, finally, the young women of that day would have a nation of strong, hardy and good-looking men to take as their husbands.

The National Housewives' league is undertaking a highly patriotic thing for the benefit of the nation. Whether incidentally or not, it would mean something worth while to every man.
And, maybe as a reward for their patriotism, it would mean a good deal to every woman.

"Babies are born faster than soldiers
die," advises Dr. Woods Hutchinson, but if the decimation of the men is continued much longer, what will become of the country while the babies are reaching maturity? The boys have already been called to the colors in several of the countries.

This community has not known a more polished gentleman, one with loftier ideals and more unselfish character than Dr. A. Suller, who passed away Wednesday. The sense of grief sustained by his family and friends is lessened, to a degree, by the rich heritage of a good name and a spotless
life which he left them.

We do not know just what feeling
General Carranza entertains for one Juan Sanchez Azcona, but since the de facto president of Mexico has named him envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Europe we suspect that he wants to get rid of him.

Judge George W. Riddle of Dallas will open his campaign for the United States senate in Waxahachie March 11.
It occurs to us that so successful a banker as Mr. Riddle ought to be able to find a better means for expending
his money.

Now that the majority of the Chicago wards are returning aldermen
who are opposed to the reform mayor,
it is clearly demonstrated not only
that the Windy City is a wicked spot,
but that she prefers to remain so.

A Waterloo, Iowa, woman is suing
a man on a charge of "assault with intent to kiss and hug her." It would appear that the motive of the suit lies in the fact that the defendant failed
to complete the assault.

Even the women have gone to robbing banks up in Oklahoma. May an indulgent providence have mercy on that state!

WATCH SORE THROATS

because swollen glands or inflamed
membranes often affect other tissues
and lung trouble easily follows.
As Nature's corrector of throat
troubles the pure cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is speedily converted into germ-resisting tissue; its tested glycerine is curative and healing, while this wholesome emulsion relieves the trouble and upbuilds the forces to resist tubercular germs and avert the weakening influence which usually follows.
If any member of your family has a tender throat, get a bottle of Scott's Emulsion today. Physicians prescribe it to avert throat troubles, overcome bronchial disorders and strengthen the lungs. No alcohol or harmful drugs. Always insist on Scott's.

UNCLE SAM'S NEWEST SUPERDREADNOUGHT READY FOR TRIAL RUN

The three gun turrets on the Pennsylvania; Captain H. R. Wilson.

The Pennsylvania, the newest and largest fighting machine of the United States navy, has just gone to the Maine coast to make her trial run. The dreadnought has several features that are new to naval construction. The most striking is her four turrets, each with three guns.
This is the first of Uncle Sam's fighting boats to have this armament.
When she fires a broadside it means that nine tons of steel are being hurled at her enemy. She will be assigned to the Atlantic fleet and will probably be the flagship. The boat is of 31,500 tons. She is 608 feet long with a 97-foot beam. She is an oil burner and has a speed of twenty-one knots. Her complement consists of 1,100 officers and men. Capt. H. R.
Wilson, president of the board of inspection and survey of the navy department, has been appointed the Pennsylvania's commander.

Franklin was born in 1838 and leaves
a large line of descendants, a goodly number of whom live in this vicinity.

Dallas Has Murder Mysteries.

By the Associated Press.
Dallas, March 2.—Finding of the body of an unknown Italian with several bullet wounds and the discovery of a negro farmer, shot and killed at his home near here, gave the Dallas city and county officers today two new murder mysteries to study.

The Italian's body was found in the Houston & Texas Central railroad yards apparently having been placed there after the murder with the object that a train might mutilate it, destroying evidences of the crime. The body was untouched by rats, vermin, however.

Ben Hill, the negro, was shot with a rifle or revolver as he sat in his home
last night, the bullet crashing through the window and striking him in the head.
Officers have found no clue to either crime.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Christ's Attitude on Defense.

To the Waco Morning News:
Noticing in the Dallas News a few days ago that a minister of the Gospel,
who lives in a distant part of the state
and with whom I am intimately acquainted, had voted for military preparedness, while my own name appeared in the same paper as voting against it, I wrote him a letter outlining my reasons for voting no. In reply he wrote at considerable length,
setting forth his reasons for voting
yes. From a "worldly" standpoint he had much to say about the awful Teutonic peril and the total lack of Teutonic conscience. (As if England's conscience had always confined her operations to her own little island.)
From a religious standpoint, however, he planted himself firmly on Luke 22:36, and claimed that his advocacy of national defense was fully justified when Christ Himself enjoined preparation for personal defense in the following language, as it appears in the verses just cited: "Then said he unto them, But now he that hath
a purse, let him take it, and likewise
his scrip; and he that hath no sword,
let him sell his garment and buy one."

Since multitudes of people, in and out of the churches, may be standing on that verse and reaching out for more swords and longer swords, let's examine it a few minutes, for to interpret it as does my minister friend
is to negate the whole life and character and teachings of Jesus and put Him in a class with Mahomet, which I refuse to do. That passage must be interpreted some other way, or the world must look elsewhere than to Jesus for a Prince of Peace.

On examination it will be found that only one of the evangelistic writers (Luke) makes any sort of reference to Jesus having enjoined upon those without swords to sell their garments and buy swords, while all four of those writers put it into the record that Simon Peter, at a later hour of the same night, drew a sword in defense of his Master; and all of them except Mark put it into the record that Jesus, on that occasion, condemned
the use of the sword and commanded that it be put away.
It was in Jerusalem, at the last supper, that Jesus is said to have enjoined the buying of a sword, and in the same connection He made reference to some prophecy that had to be fulfilled, and then one of those present said, "Lord, behold, here are two swords." What did He mean by that answer? For what purpose were those two swords enough? Doubtless one of them was the identical sword with which Peter afterward smote the high priest's servant in the garden of Gethsemane, that same night. And may it not be that Jesus, knowing that His murderous enemies were about to lay hands on Him, wanted the sword drawn on that particular occasion in order to provide an opportunity by which He might the more effectually disavow and discontinue the use of the sword? This interpretation would at least comport perfectly with all that Jesus had said and done during His life, while that of my minister friend requires that Jesus explain all the rest that He had ever said or done that had any bearing on the furtherance of His cause by physical force.

In after years we find Paul, the chief apostle of Jesus, reciting a long list of bodily perils he had been in-perils of the wilderness, perils of the heathen, perils of robbers, etc.—yet do we find where he ever armed himself or counseled others to arm themselves for personal protection? On the con

The Doctor's Advice

by Dr. Lewis Baker

"Clerk" writes: "I feel tired and worn-out all the time. I have no inclination to do anything, and I suffer with headache, trembling and dizziness. I am only 28, but I feel more like 60. What may I do to overcome this condition? I feel restless and discontented."

Answer: I would suggest regular habits of living; avoid excesses and dissipation and start at once using three-grain cadomene tablets. These tablets act as a bracing, stimulating tonic for the nerves and blood, and have benefited thousands. Regular use of them should build you up and revitalize your system.

"Cured" writes: "A couple of years ago your prescription permanently relieved me of a terrible case of rheumatism. My joints were all swollen and I had lumps and bumps on my hands and feet and suffered terribly. Now I want the same formula for my sister, who suffers from rheumatism."

Answer: I have always prescribed the following in the treatment of rheumatism, and my records show it is the one you used with so much success; have your sister get 2 drams of iodide of potassium, 4 drams of sodium salicylate, 4 oz. wine of colchicum, 1 oz. comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort and 5 oz. of syrup sarsaparilla comp. Mix and take a teaspoonful at meal time and again before going to bed.

"Atlas" writes: "I am losing flesh constantly. I am all run down and weak, and exercise tires me. I want a good builder and tonic."

Answer: Three-grain hypo-nucleate tablets taken regularly with your meals should increase your weight, your strength, and overcome the tired feeling. They are the greatest flesh builders I could suggest.

"L. E." writes: "I want something to relieve me of a cold, tonsillitis, bronchitis and a severe cough."

Answer: Your blood is impure, as indicated by the boils and bad complexion. Three-grain sulphur tablets (not aspirin) will clean your system and tone your blood. Start using them at once. The are sold in sealed tubes.

"Ella" asks: "What do you suppose is the matter with my hair? It is all coming out. I have a bad scalp and my hair is falling out. I am afraid I will lose all my hair."

Answer: Wash the hair, and while still wet apply rubbing thoroughly into the scalp some plain yellow minylol. Rinse out and continue this treatment after washing for about two weeks, at which time your scalp should be healthy and your hair bright and glossy.

"Pump" writes: "I weigh 173 pounds and I am much too plump for my height. May I safely reduce to about 135 pounds?"

Answer: You may safely reduce your weight several pounds by using five-grain hypo-nucleate tablets. These are harmless and successful flesh reducers. Sold in sealed tubes, with full directions.

James William Lee, Formerly of Waco, Dies in Dallas

Texan Interned in Scotland Released

By the Associated Press.

London, March 2.—Ulric Parker of Brownsville, Texas, who has been interned since last June near Edinburgh, today was ordered released by the British government.

Parker was mate of the schooner Gypsum Empress, which called at Greenock, where Parker went ashore, was arrested as a German and sent to the detention camp.

The American consul at Edinburgh satisfied himself that Parker was an American citizen, but efforts of the department to secure papers proving this were fruitless. The British authorities, however, finally decided to release him without documentary evidence.

FOUR WEEKS IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. Brown Finally Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cleveland, Ohio.—"For years I suffered so sometimes it seemed as though I could not stand it any longer. It was all in my lower organs. At times I could hardly walk, for if I stepped on a little stone I would almost faint. One day I did faint and my husband and I were sent for and the doctor came. I was taken to the hospital and stayed four weeks but when I came home I would faint just the same and had the same pains."

A friend who is a nurse said for me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began taking it that very day for I was suffering a great deal. It has already done me more good than the hospital. To anyone who is suffering as I was my advice is to stop in the first drug-store and get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before you go home."

—Mrs. W. C. Brown, 1109 Auburn Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio.

TALENTED RUMANIAN QUEEN MOTHER DIES

CARMEN SYLVA, CHARMING FIGURE IN EUROPEAN COURTS, PASSES AWAY.

Born Princess of Wied, Queen Elizabeth Devoted Life to Adopted Country.

By the Associated Press.

London, March 2.—A Bucharest dispatch received by Reuters Telegram company by way of Amsterdam, says that the Queen Mother Elizabeth of Rumania (Carmen Sylva) died this morning.

The "Queen Mother" by which the Queen Mother Elizabeth was most widely known, was chosen by her in expression of her love for song and the woods. She was one of the most charming figures in the courts of Europe and practically the only one of recent generations to gain fame as a poetess.

In her own words, she was born "far from a throne," for although she was a princess of Wied, one of the many tiny principalities with which Germany abounded, her youth was that of an ordinary robust country girl who learned to cook and sew and who romped in the open with her companions at the village school. She was born Dec. 29, 1842, and in her childhood she showed predilection for the poetical fancies that had such an influence on her later life. She absorbed innumerable fairy stories and, with some of her own imagination added, she delighted her playmates with her fancies. At home she received Spartan training and with a father who was invalid for life, and a brother who was incurably ill, she experienced many sorrows and hardships.

Upon the death of her brother, the princess was sent away to visit her aunt, Grand Duchess Helena of Russia, who took her traveling to various parts of Europe. It was during this tour, however, that the princess herself was stricken with typhus fever, and nearly died. It was to learn that her father had passed away. She was deeply affected by the sorrow of her family, and music and poetry became her only consolation.

"Must all I love on earth be borne to the grave?" was the last words she wrote at the time of her father's death.

Her friends about her home on the Rhine, "the little wild rosebud of Wied," had evinced an almost savage dislike to matrimony, and had often exclaimed, "I do not wish to marry. I can be queen of Rumania." The princess of Rumania had at that time just been founded, and the young princess's remark except that she believed it a sufficiently safe way to say that she didn't want to marry at all.

There is a remarkable romance attached to the fact that some years later her sister became Prince Charles's betrothed, who was refused on the same fanciful pretext that the princess would not marry unless she could be queen of Rumania. In 1883, Prince Charles was chosen ruler of Rumania, and in the autumn of the next year he returned to Wied to remind the Princess Elizabeth of her desire to rule over that kingdom.

Married and settled in the palace at Bucharest, the Princess Elizabeth, with great ardor into the life of the country. She learned to read and write Rumanian, made herself acquainted with the needs and requirements of the land, and became so beloved that the people called her "The Little Mother." Out of her own private fondness for the country, she had a limited way of doing practically her whole life to philanthropy. Although she had practiced her literary talents in a limited way for many years, it was not until the death of her first and only child at the age of four that much of her energy was unleashed. Though her poems lose much from the translation, one glimpse of a favorite theme is as follows:

"The fairest word on earth that heard On human lips the fairest word, Is mother."

To whom such name shall once belong, High honor hers her whole life long. But all her earthly joys are o'er, Who is and then who is no more."

A mother.

She translated into German the favorite Rumanian folk songs and wrote some short novels and dramas. Some of her publications are "Thoughts of a Queen," "Edleen Vaughan," "Shadows on Life's Dial," and "A Real Queen's Fairy Book."

She was an indefatigable worker. Her letters, which have been received at her palace have found her answering her innumerable letters herself on a typewriter, of which machines she had in constant use, equipped for writing in English, Rumanian, French and German.

Once a pupil of Rubinstein, she was skilled in the playing of the piano and she also was gifted as an artist.

Having lost her own little girl, she pictured her mother to minister to her Rumanian children and among them she was held in great affection. As to womanhood, Carmen Sylva, after expressed herself in interviews, "A woman," she said, "is made for the home. Her hands should be trained to do beautiful things, which she can do by her own friends, and there her husband should find her."

Her husband, King Charles I. of Rumania, died in October, 1914, past 75 years of age. Since then the Queen Mother herself has been in ill-health, suffering particularly from cataract in both eyes.

out political obligations to a living soul. I will be servant of all the people, whether friend or foe. I shall keep my campaign on a high plane and hope to have the respect of all the candidates when the race is over.

Appeal to No Single Class.

I make my appeal to no single class. I approach all men alike, not the rich or poor against the other, not the employer or employee against the other, not the consumer or producer against the other. I come to the farmer with whose labor I am familiar through years of actual experience. I know his love of home and family and country. I come to the day laborer, by whose side I have toiled in the ditches and on the railroad tracks. I know his habits of life and his longings for the comforts of a home. I come to the train or engine man who must be much away from home amid the constant dangers from which he never recoils. I know his heart yearnings are that wife and children may have those comforts incident to the neighbors near whom they live. I come to the clerks who daily treat the patient that leads to drudgery or wealth. I know their faith in their employers and their dream of a better day. I come to the blacksmith and the wheelwright, the lawyer and the preacher, the cattlemen and truck grower. I come to them all, for I believe in all the people, not a mere part.

For many years I have annually been associated with about fifteen hundred young men and women out of the homes of the people of all callings known to Texas. They are just like other people, for they come from all the people. Daily contact with them has heightened my confidence in all the people, of whom I am a part, and from whom I have never been separated. I am an intense believer in a government of majorities. Majorities make mistakes, but majorities correct them.

Governments of the people do not exist for themselves, nor do political parties. Governments and political parties exist for the people whom they serve. They were never intended to be the means of perpetuating evil, but rather that which is good. More and more men are coming to see that policies of government can't ignore the moral quality of the action by which results are attained.

Man's interdependence is everywhere apparent and that political party should die that will not seek to satisfy human needs in the field of human freedom. Governments are not good merely because they set in motion streams of good, but rather because they make possible the highest efficiency of the individual in the pursuit of human happiness, or that each may find for himself that life which is most abundant.

Once more let the question be asked, Is it a mechanic or other day laborer organized for his betterment? He can support me, for I take him by the hand or the level of democracy or merit. Looking each the other in the eye, and promise him out of an experience of actual work, supplemented by study and travel, that I know somewhat of his needs and pledge him all the help I can give in legislation, looking to the spirit of himself and those dependent upon him.

Is it a farmer? He can support me, for I will treat him not as one living apart from the world, or as one under somebody, but also as one standing on the level of equality with his brother in other callings, for I know well that at the very minute his products rot in the field consumers elsewhere hunger to get them.

I know that it is here that the agricultural department can send out its experts to study the solution of this problem. I know that if the department can properly teach seed and soil selections, then it may teach better marketing methods than those now pursued.

Record as a Democrat.

I am a democrat, fighting regularly men and measures prior to the primaries, but never thereafter scratching a ticket. In this loyalty to government I have regularly followed the

HOW WOMAN HAS SUFFERED IN THE WAR

A ruined home still occupied near the battle line in France.

One of the most remarkable features of civilian life in France is the way the people stick to their homes in spite of the ravages of war. At Carancy and Loos, after the recent terrible fighting, people were found clinging to their homes to the last, though the walls had tumbled about their ears, and utter desolation was spread around.

example of my illustrious predecessor, Dr. Rufus C. Burleson, I believe in sutting legislative action to the people's needs, using the past to throw light on the future and not to blind it. I believe in the democracy of Woodrow Wilson and his administration of foreign and domestic affairs. In my judgment, no president has ever surpassed him for poise, character, sanity of mind and individuality of thinking.

In offering my services to the state, I do not do it as one who can make something out of nothing, nor yet in the belief that the government can, I know that one man cannot lift himself by his own bootstraps, neither can ten men nor a hundred million men. I know that congress cannot get around a bushel of snuff wheat and cause it to make good biscuits, nor can it make a bale of cotton worth twenty cents a pound when the markets of the world will not pay it.

These facts, however, do not blind me to the protective character of government and the opportunity of legislators aiding their constituents in saving money as well as constructing laws. Nor do they hinder me from the appreciation of the social service every citizen owes to his fellowman. To this end, let us consider some of the things wherein extravagance has crept and for which the people suffer, in all of which I faithfully pledge my best efforts to.

Would Economy.

Pensions.—One man in every one hundred persons in the United States draws a pension from the federal government. About 999,000 now are on the pension rolls, of whom 376,782, having served three months, have been given retiring allowances of from 10 to 30 dollars per month. About $500,000 have gone to each of the congressional districts of the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

Pensions have been granted by special acts to men who now are politically influential but who were once desertion. Pension laws have been granted for such ridiculous reasons as shown in the record: "Sallow skin," "Distended Stomach," "Thin, flabby muscles" and "Slight numbness in the right leg."

Such legislation is a shame, and I cannot but believe that if all faithful southern democrats would throw themselves across such fraud it would be stopped. I do not belittle the pensions of deserving and faithful old soldiers. I do not want them ever to lose their crowns of reward, but I do not want the government to pay fake soldiers, or yet young girl widows who, to get the pension, have married old fellows tottering on the edge of the grave. It is a question worthy of consideration why a man in the army may get a pension and one in the railway mail service, or one grown old and helpless in some other civil service of the government, should have none.

Mileage Grant.—Under the law a member of either house of congress draws twenty cents a mile each way from his home to Washington. This is pure graft. If a congressman in Texas lives fifteen hundred miles from Washington, that distance at twenty cents per mile would bring him three hundred dollars, or a round trip, $600. You and I know that he can travel from his home to Washington and back in a private car on route at a cost of $125.00. Thus he has a clean gain of $475.00. In the face of this fact men have run for office, shedding great tears of sorrow for the people who pay taxes yet at every opportunity in congress have voted against any reduction of this twenty-cent mileage.

Franking Privilege.—There are over 600,000 voters in Texas. It would cost me, a candidate, or any other citizen, above $12,000 to pay the postage for one letter to each of the voters, not to count the cost of paper, envelopes and clerical help in mailing them. A congressman can run for the senate, sending not one but as many letters as he wishes to all the voters of his state without a cent of cost to himself. He may send tons of stuff through the mails at the expense of the people. In my judgment, mailing franks should be limited to legitimate correspondence and no letters should be franked by a member of either house to any one outside of one's district or state, as the case may be, unless it is in answer to letters or appeals. Millions of dollars annually could be saved and thus start us on the road to penny postage, a positive gain to all the people.

Pork Barrel.—This is a term of reproach applied to the use of public funds for political purposes. It often shows itself where congressmen squander the people's money for public building out of all proportion to wisdom used by local business men. It comes from congressmen swapping votes to build up their local political fences, each helping the other at the cost of the people. It comes also in building unnecessary naval and military stations at fabulous sums of money.

The absurdity and the crime of this is not confined to the north or to the republicans. Examples of such robbery are shown where a fifty-thousand-dollar public building was erected in Vernal, Utah, which has only 836 people in it. Another costing $107,000 was built in Jasper, Alabama, a town of 2,569 people. Another costing $15,000 was erected in Gadsden, Ala., a town of 10,999 people. Scores of other examples could be given where the people's money has been spent to raise the price of real estate for speculators and to raise votes for politicians.

On my honor I would try to stop it. Garden Seeds.—The folly of the present method of congressional distribution of seeds is apparent to all. An average of ten cents per package of seeds to each of the Texas voters, to consider the rest of the United States, it would cost above $60,000, not to speak of practically as much more for cost of carriage. In my judgment all seeds should be sent out by the secretary of agriculture upon application of the people under certain prescribed rules, or upon suggestion of the state or federal agricultural agent. This method would insure seeds going to the right parties to be properly planted and properly reared on thereafter. It would prevent the large sums of money being spent for seeds as they now do, a joke on the congressional custom.

Domestic Affairs.

The revelations of the brewery investigation, now a matter of court record in Sulphur Springs, are shocking to every sense of good citizenship. We stand aghast at the thought of millions of dollars in the course of a few years having been spent to debauch the ballot box. Poll taxes have been fraudulently paid, kept in safes for use by designing men in the hands of others ignorant and vicious. This has been done in practically all of our large cities, especially where idle, vicious negroes and Mexicans dwell. No

Simple Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and the rest or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find that itching and itching of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

man need deny these statements. Every man should seek to correct them by law.

It shames us that those guilty of most talk about local self-government are those who spend the most money to pierce society through the heart. Their method of attack is to stuff the ballot boxes with fraudulent ballots of Mexicans, back alley and river bottom negroes who are led as sheep to the slaughter. Honest voters count as nothing to such men.

The chief cause for this fraud is to keep alive the liquor traffic. The chief cause of the enmity against this business is in political interference with all law and order. The chief hope for its undoing is

Prohibition. Therefore I am for the constitutional abolition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors within limits of geographical boundaries in the United States. What one believes about this question has not been made a test of democratic soundness by either the state or national reformers. I will actually make a compromise with a business that browbeats courts, bribes juries, suborns witnesses, degrades men, shames women, orphans children, mocks decency, and laughs at all law and order. It has the eternal enmity of all good people everywhere because of its political interference and there is no fact more apparent than that a business is doomed to annihilation.

Men run for congress on the other side of this question, talking much about state rights. I remind these gentlemen that the doctrine of state rights never did involve the right of any state to do wrong merely to demonstrate its sovereignty. In saying this I would be just as quick to affirm that the sovereignty of the states must be destroyed, as seen in the rifts of the interstate commerce commission. On other occasions some gentlemen have talked about county rights, but on all occasions they are on the wrong side of this vicious business. They have voted in congress to stop the sale of opium to habitual users. They have voted for laws having to do with Texas fever cattle in transit. But they have forgotten the boots and a single night to the country boys than ticks for country cattle.

As a law of life that we generally do the best that we know. Having learned that vicious weeds are bad, we pull them up; that snakes are hurtful, we kill them; that liquor does more harm than good, we vote it out.

The Landless Man. The problem of getting homes for all the people is that commands the respect of thoughtful people everywhere. No honorable man will dodge the needs of the tenant classes. By every honorable means of mind and hand I promise to do what I can to help get homes for the frugal homeless. To this end rural credit legislation has been promised by congress now in session. But if for reason congress fails, there should later seek to get farm land loan banks, a rural credit associations organized for this purpose, whereby money could be borrowed at the lowest possible rate of interest and payments so adjusted that the borrower could be paid in equal installments over a period of say five to thirty-five years. This I will undertake, and beyond this no wise man can honorably promise.

Budget System.

It amazes us that America, the light of the world in so many things, has refused to adopt the budget system when every other civilized nation in the world has done so. At the present time there are about a dozen important committees, for example: Rivers and harbors, army, navy, postoffice, etc. Each makes out a budget of its probable expenses for the ensuing year, asking congress for all sorts of advancements, irrespective and ignorant of what other committees are doing. These committees usually meet behind closed doors. They may invite advice. Usually, however, the advice comes from those friendly to the work of the given committee.

Thus we have a great number of legislative committees, for example: the Brazos, Trinity, Sabine and Colorado rivers. Especially is the lower Colorado full of timbers that hinder the free flow to the sea, endangering the lands and crops and homes of the people nearby.

That this loose system, or lack of system, prevails is the more amazing when we remember that the wisest men America has produced have fought President Wilson's is his early school books showed the weakness of our congressional method and urged the adoption of the budget system.

This system involves careful estimates of all departments and recommendations to the president. It might be raised. It brings these estimates together and allows one committee to go carefully over all. It insures as to the probability of the resources meeting the expenditure. It is a method of the most practical and inalienable and criminal practice of so many private bills. It would annihilate the strength of the pork barrel politicians who feed and fatten on the taxes of the people. It would stop the practice of congressional vote-swapping where one man helps another sell a swamp lot for a public building to help irrigate some creek during dry weather.

War Goods.

I believe that the United States, where possible, should manufacture and sell military goods not used in the arts of trade. This would insure having the goods when needed, built at the lowest cost and would forbid agents of war goods working up a war scare for profits, as is so often claimed now.

Health and Educational Cabinet Officers.

I believe that the chiefs of these departments as now organized should be made members of the cabinet and co-equal in counsel with other members. I am glad that agriculture, labor and commerce have each a cabinet member. Yet each of them has to do with only a part of the people.

The science of medicine is not limited to any class. Its needs run the world around. As matters are now, we have in Washington that big hog is sick. Quickly the department of agriculture takes interest. Remedies are sent. But if one wire Washington that his baby is sick, the telegram is in vain, for nobody knows and nobody cares. My contention is not to make the government care for our sick babies, but rather that the department of health should be a clearing house of information, standardizing all the best knowledge of the world in the field of medicine, disease, sanitation, quarantines, etc., on the ground that our wives and children are as important as hogs and cattle.

Likewise, the department of education is not limited to a class, nor would I seek to make rules for the state, but I would extend its present usefulness. There are twenty-two million children in the public schools of the United States. Most of these are in the rural schools. Three-quarters of a million dollars per annum go to their support. Out of these will come the people of the next generation. Is there any knowledge more important than caring for them? Shall they not have counsel from the whole world as to the newest of life and the science of getting things for the future out of the now unknown resources of the

TAKES THE PLACE OF DANGEROUS CALOMEL

New Discovery! Dodson's Liver Tone Acts Like Calomel But Doesn't Gripe, Salivate or Make You Sick—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Harmless Liver Medicine for Men, Women, Children—Read Guarantee!

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated, or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

earth and sea and air? It is important that we should know how to profit in matters of world commerce and be ignorant of the world knowledge as to education of our children? Let the 600,000 teachers in the United States have all the knowledge of all the world in an effort to grow the highest democracy possible out of the children of all the people, poor and rich alike.

Child Labor. The time was when we of Texas and the South complained of New England's treatment of little children. We can no longer complain and in the South this is a blight as bad as anywhere. Can we be careless of the 2,000,000 children under 16 years of age that must work for a living? Are we unmoved to know that in some places nearly one-half of the children between 19 and 13 must work for wages? Do we forget that child-bearing mothers must be protected from the foul air and dangerous occupations in which so many of them now must work?

For nine years the national child labor committee has tried in vain to get congressional relief.

Rivers and Harbors. I would not have the government squander money on any scheme whose merit is local pride. But it is a part of wisdom for us to improve the waterways of the nation, to catch and hold the new water as it comes from the mountains, to keep it in the channels on whose bosoms trade and traffic may go.

In this whole matter we have not only the rivers to lock and dam, or to deepen, but we have the irrigation and reclamation of waste lands for cultivation. By this means thousands of homeless people could get homes.

What has been done in other parts of the world can be done in Texas. My attention therefore would be given to projects now under way, and in addition to endeavor to get relief from overflows in the lower valleys on the Brazos, Trinity, Sabine and Colorado rivers. Especially is the lower Colorado full of timbers that hinder the free flow to the sea, endangering the lands and crops and homes of the people nearby.

Usury Laws. I do not want to punish capital nor those who have it, but I do want capital to obey the laws of the state and believe that these banks that get the help of the national government should cease the outrageously high, usurious rates of interest of which so many of them are guilty. This can be done in fairness to both the lender and the borrower and I would help to do it.

Business and Manufacturing Industries. My notion of life involves the interdependence of all men and things and does not forget the fabric of the hands that struck because the stomach did not work. When the stomach died the hands died also. In this fabric I think of labor as the hands, and capital as the stomach. So I know that there can be no modern human progress without great sums of money brought together to aid in doing the world's great work. I, therefore, shall do what I can to promote all business and manufacturing industries without regard to the size of the business, but wholly with regard to their treatment of the people who make their enterprises possible by (a) labor, by (b) investment, or by (c) consumption of their products.

In the march of industrial affairs farmers and mechanics have not had a square deal. The duties of working men have kept them out of the hurrying throngs, out of the market places of great profits, out of the halls of legislation. They have too often been misrepresented by men in congress ignorant of their real needs, or willful in disquieting them. This is not true of manufacturing and banking industries, whose leaders have the leisure to study, the money for travel and the financial ability to represent themselves, others not seeing it, and not influenced by public opinion.

I believe that the profits out of the products of labor and capital should be equitably divided. Many corporations seeing this have done so voluntarily, others not seeing it, and not influenced by public opinion. In response to the call of needy wives and growing children of overworked men, should be made to do it, even by law. I would do what I could to bring about arbitrary settlements of all labor and capital disputes to the end that both may prosper and neither lose time or money.

Warehouse Law. It will be my aim to get enacted a federal warehouse law whereby through the department of agriculture experts could sample and grade cotton and other non-perishable farm products. This would give uniformity in grading, confidence among buyers and standardize warehouse receipts among bankers at home and abroad.

None of these laws need interfere with existing state warehouse and market laws.

Parcels Post. I would enlarge it to include all express business. It is undesirable to the civil service properly would be purchased at a fair value (2) that all railroads will thereafter be properly graded, confidence among buyers and standardize warehouse receipts among bankers at home and abroad.

It has been said that the express companies have profited by the government's desire to increase the mail business. I believe that all overhead expenses of the present postal and express business can be cut down by the use of express clipping coupons of profit out of express business when it is so near akin to that of the mail service at home and abroad. Let the mail service of the United States help in a much larger way than now in the proper exchange of farm and other commodities that some produce and others want to consume. Let the enlarged facilities would transform the fruit and vegetable business. It would help get raw materials into the hands of skilled labor in manufacturing. It would furnish work for idle money and work for idle men.

Foreign Affairs. Merchant Marine. The policy of the present administration at Washington is to increase the foreign trade of the United States, particularly with the countries of Central and South America. This would be greatly helped by a merchant marine, a such ships, therefore, should be built at once for (1) commerce in peace and for (2) auxiliaries in time of war.

Neutral Convention. An immediate convention of the neutral nations out of which may come a body of doctrine having to do with the respective future rights of neutral and belligerent nations in light of modern life and the experience of the European war. This body of doctrine would be entered by joint signature to the European nations after the present war is at an end. It is confidently believed that many acts of the question now done by belligerents towards neutrals would be impossible under such an agreement.

It is a fact that in all the world's history fighters have forced bystanders to get to cover, though in modern cities street fighters are stopped by policemen. In international rights neutrals actually sometimes suffer more than if they took sides. If such a convention should be called, it would open the way for future possible united action to coerce the violator of neutral rights and thus open the way for league to enforce peace.

I believe it is reasonable that at the close of the present world war joint treaties of the leading nations can be signed whereby violators of neutral or treaty rights might be coerced by a joint army and navy greater than that of either in the signatory powers. This would be a long step towards everlasting peace, the hope of the world. Nothing like it will ever be done until a real effort is made in a neutral convention.

Preparedness. We are Texans loyal to the heart. We are Americans to the last drop of blood. However, in the light of rapid transit, the every country of communication under mountains and streams, over oceans and sky, we are knit together as brothers of all the world. We are no longer isolated. We must think world thoughts. As an individual man is neighbor to another across the street, so is America neighbor to every country of the world. Neither the man nor America can shake a neighbor's responsibility. The laws of social life of the one become the laws of international life for the other. This interrelated character of modern nations teaches that the progress of the world halts when any part of it goes to war. Progress follows peace. Without peace there can be no church or school or crop or growth of art or other industry upon which the home depends.

For many years from many platforms I have pleaded the gospel of peace among all nations as the product of wise treaties through diplomacy. I have urged the moral equivalents of war as seen in the manifold industries of men. I abhor militarism and its consequent undernourished ideals, nor will I ever from these principles depart.

My constant hope and belief are that war has reached its climax across the seas. However, that hope need not blind us to the fact that in pursuance of our

If Too Fat Get More Fresh Air

BE MODERATE IN YOUR DIET AND REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT. TAKE OIL OF KOREIN.

Lack of fresh air is said to weaken the oxygen carrying power of the blood, the liver becomes sluggish, fat accumulates and the action of many of the vital organs is hindered thereby. The heart action becomes weak, work is an effort and the beauty of the figure is destroyed.

"Fat put on by indoor life is unhealthy and if nature is not assisted in throwing it off a serious case of obesity may result. When you feel that you are getting too stout, take the matter in hand at once. Don't wait until your figure has become a joke and your health ruined through carrying around a burden of unsightly and unhealthy fat."

Spend as much time as you possibly can in the open air; breathe deeply, and get from Morrissey Drug Store or any druggist a box of oil of korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself every few days and keep up the treatment until you are down to normal. Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, helps the digestion and even a few days' treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight.

neutral rights and approved well-known customs of international law, we have offended the Germans and her allies, the English and her allies, the Mexicans and the Colombians.

This makes a condition and not a theory. I therefore make my primary commitments as to preparedness and go with President Wilson in an effort to maintain the peace of the world. In doing this I do not surrender my individuality by truckling to the president. I follow his leadership for two reasons: (1) An executive deals with foreign affairs which cannot always be made public. Mr. Wilson pleaded for greater preparedness and urged that it be started at once; (2) one of the weaknesses of the democratic party is the lack of coherence of its members. Therefore, as a good democrat, loyal to the party and to follow my chosen leader, when no fundamental principle of conscience is involved, I join hands with him. I do this remembering that all representative governments have made their highest progress through frequent compromises. I do this knowing that there will be increasing cost of maintenance, but the confidence that the burden will not be put in stamp taxes upon the poor, rather income taxes on the rich. Such preparedness will call for some increase of the army and navy by voluntary enlistment. I suggest that as young men do not usually enter the army and navy to make it a life work, there should

CITY WILL CHECK ARC LIGHT SERVICE

CURRENT TESTER WILL BE CONNECTED WITH CIRCUIT TO RECORD LAPSES.

COPEY REPORTS ON TESTS

Loss of Illumination Due to Lack of Trimming and Cleaning Lamps May Reach $4000 a Year.

A current tester to be connected with the city arc light system to record the efficiency of the service provided by the Texas Power and Light company was ordered purchased by the city commission at its regular meeting yesterday. The action of the commission was taken upon the motion of Commissioner Richards, following the reading of a report by City Electrician E. F. Copley, in which was detailed the findings of investigations and tests extending over a period of several weeks. Complaint had been made that arc lights were not producing the illumination called for in the city's contract with the company, and that numbers of lights are allowed to go out through lack of proper attention.

An instrument which, connected with the arc circuits, will make a continuous chart showing the efficiency of the illumination and revealing the number of lights out, will be purchased by the city, Mr. Copley's report stated that a drop of one-half ampere in the efficiency of the current would entail a waste of $4000 a year to the city under the terms of its contract with the company.

Following is Mr. Copley's report in full: Waco, Texas, Feb. 15, 1916. Ben C. Richards, Commissioner of Lights.

Dear Sir: After a pretty close study of the arc light situation, which has taken considerable time, both on the street at the lamps and at the boards of the light company, with the information which I have been able to secure, I find the following conditions to exist:

A great number of the lamps were hung in the early part of the year 1912, to which other lamps have been added as ordered from time to time, until now a corrected list, which this department has made from the street verified and verified by the company's records, show that 453 lamps are now in service. These lamps have had no attention as to upkeep or maintenance except the regular trimming. It appears very doubtful whether the lamps were ever correctly adjusted before being put into service.

These 453 lamps are arranged or divided into fifteen routes of approximately thirty lamps each and one route is trimmed each day. The lamps having what is called fifteen-day trim, this requires two trimmings per lamp each thirty days. This work has been performed by one man alone and if the number of lamps trimmed per day is compared to the number of minutes in an eight-hour work day, this trimmer has sixteen minutes to the lamp, including time necessary to travel from one location to another. The condition of the lamps as seen in service shows a lack of both adjustment and up-keep. While dirt and the accumulation of products of combustion will not materially reduce the illumination given out by the lamp.

In desire in this connection to call your attention to the fact that the contract under which the lights are furnished the city of Waco, under the terms of any certain candlepower. The agreement of the company was to install a lamp equal in candlepower to the 4 1/2 ampere series alternating lamp which had a mean spherical candle power of 130, whereas the mean spherical candlepower of the present lamp is 240. About three weeks ago, the services of an arc lamp expert of the General Electric company was called here on this same proposition and he proceeded to instruct the company's employees in adjustment and maintenance of the lamp. The company then did not proceed to overhaul and test the lamps at the test board in the downtown office. To this date (Feb. 18), 104 lamps have been brought in, and the company in good order. You will note that this work is being done at the rate of ten lamps per week. One man is engaged in this work exclusively.

I respectfully recommend: First, that this department be furnished with an instrument which can be placed in the arc light circuits, in the day time, left all night, making a chart of the current flowing in the circuit during the period of burning. That the company be required to maintain a current in the circuits of 4 amperes. For instance, a drop of 1/2 ampere in a circuit means a loss to the city of $9,000 kilowatt hours in one year, at 5¢ per K. W. H. makes a total of $4500, which we lose in street lighting candle power.

Second, that the company be required to overhaul, thoroughly clean and adjust the lamps at certain definite periods. That the provisions of the contract with regard to "outages" be closely adhered to and the company be required to pay the penalty as provided when the lamps are out.

Third, that the company be required to have a man go to any further details. That is why Waco people demand the genuine.

E. F. COPELY, City Electrician.

WHY IS WACO FIRM?

BECAUSE ITS CITIZENS HAVE LEARNED THE TRUTH.

After reading this generous and encouraging report from Mr. McCurry those who have the misfortune to suffer as he did will naturally long to get similar relief. But to get the same good as Mr. McCurry had, you should get the same remedy. There are, of course, no other kidney pills the same as Doan's. That is why Waco people demand the genuine.

O. Y. McCurry, commission merchant, Seventh street and Ross avenue, Waco, says:

"For several years I have been afflicted with attacks of kidney complaint, which brought on pain across the small of my back. The kidney secretions became unnatural. I felt all used up by these attacks. A friend of mine, Mr. J. H. Smith, procured at Morrison's Old Corner Drug Store, have always given me immediate relief."

General Gourard is probably one of the most popular men in the French army today. He is the idol of the men of his command, having made a record on the field for bravery. CONDITIONS GOOD AROUND MCGREGOR SAYS ARMSTRONG

H. A. Armstrong, who has spent the past few days in McGregor and vicinity, returned home today with the report that conditions throughout that section, from an agricultural standpoint, are in a very flattering state. "There is a wonderful activity among the farmers just now," said Mr. Armstrong. "The spring days have started things going. The soil is in splendid shape and every advantage is being taken to make things ready for spring planting. Quite a bit of corn has been planted the past week and in another week most of it will be in the ground. There is considerable need for moisture in some parts, but farmers generally and townspeople in particular are looking to the future with a spirit of optimism that makes a fellow think of old times."

"Interest in corn clubs, hog clubs and crop diversification is growing and while the number of acres of cotton is going to be quite liberally increased, the increase is not going to be near so great as has been reported. Another very encouraging feature of the crop situation is the fact that farmers are giving more attention to better seed for planting. This effort, too, is being greatly encouraged by the business men and business organizations of the towns around. The McGregor Merchants' association, for instance, Mr. Crouch, its president, told me, has taken an active interest in matters of the nature and have accomplished quite a good deal."

Mr. Armstrong is of the opinion that a great amount of good can come from a closer working relation between the Waco Y. M. C. A. and farmer of Commerce and the organizations of similar nature in the towns around. "I find that a spirit of friendliness and neighborliness among our sister towns that is far above the average."

Waco is a city with a close friendship. There is a section of country fifty miles or more around Waco that our business men, manufacturing, jobbing and wholesale concerns, shipping and receiving, and the history of the city of that section; it must keep pace with conditions in that section; not only keep pace, but protect and meet the demands of such a section, or other city with whom business is friendly toward Waco and Waco must wake up, come alive—Waco must deliver the goods."

Newcomer Learns Niceties of Travel on Texas Railroad

The following amusing incident was recently reported to Superintendent of Dining Car, H. Jennings of the Cotton Belt by one of his dining car stewards. A native of the far Northwest seeking health, happiness and a change of great state of Texas entered the dining car on the fast Lone Star train and was served with a famous good meal, including a Cotton Belt steak and a big Golden Yellow yam. After his meal had been finished the waiter brought a silver finger bowl with a small green mint water on the plate.

The northern thought the water was soap and used it as such to his very evident embarrassment and to the amusement of the other diners. It took the combined efforts of the steward and waiter to remove the water from his fingers and to relieve his misery. Now he's educated to the niceties of railroad travel and dining in the Southwest.

Unprecedented Rush City Tax Collector Last Days February

The office of City Tax Collector R. L. Strubling has resumed its normal well-ordered aspect after the unprecedented rush of tax payments during the last two days of last month. Mr. Strubling is responsible for the statement that the rush was greater than ever before recorded for the last days before penalties on taxes become operative.

Crowds not only filled the office from early morning to late at night during the last two days, but overflowed into the corridor of the city hall. Members of the office force were kept going at top speed for fourteen to sixteen hours each day and it became necessary to cut off the phones in the office.

Mr. Strubling desires this explanation of the rush to the office. The rush was not understood why telephone calls to the office during these two days were not answered.

Following is the program for the concert by Alessandro's Symphony orchestra which will precede the grand ball in the Cotton Palace coliseum tonight:

March, "The Battle Royal."

Thousands of persons that lined the business districts of the city yesterday afternoon were shown the evolution of styles from the time the Indians roamed at will over this section of the country to what will be the vogue for the coming spring season. Yesterday was Fashion Day and Automobile Day for the spring style show which will be brought to a close tonight, and was featured by the elaborate parade and the Sanger Brothers store.

Aside from the evolution of styles the parade depicted the evolution of transportation, showing the earliest modes of travel to the present luxury motor car. Floats that appeared in the parade were attractively decorated and the affair as a whole was a rare treat. It was the result of careful plans and tedious preparations on the part of the committee representing the Young Men's Business League.

Sanger Living Models Attraction.
Three exhibitions of styles were given by New York talent at Sanger Brothers yesterday in which were shown the fads and fancies of Dame Fashion for the spring and summer of this year. Never before in the history of the establishment was the store so crowded as it was yesterday. Last night the store kept open house and several hundred people were guests.

The promenade room was crowded to its capacity and many visitors turned away. A brilliant decorative scheme was carried out throughout the entire store, and every department was arranged to be in harmony with the styles and fashions of spring. An exhibition was given yesterday morning, one yesterday afternoon and one last night.

Other merchants received large crowds throughout the day and the night. Many beautiful displays are before the public in the show windows of the downtown stores, and will remain there until the style show is brought to an end.

The parade was formed at Twelfth and Austin streets and extended on Twelfth to Franklin and out west on Franklin. It marched down Austin to Third street, down Third to Franklin and back up Franklin to Eighth, where it disbanded. Two mounted herds, Hunter Blair and Will Torrence, dressed in the old Elizabethan costumes, headed the line of march and were followed by Miss Frances van Boddie, who is representing the Goddess of Liberty in the style show, seated in an attractively decorated touring car with Wilson Wood as Uncle Sam.

Next came an attractive high school horse, trained to two-step, owned by Lee Lennox and ridden by Prof. Frank Asher. Prof. Asher also furnished two pretty horses for a tandem in the section of the parade showing the evolution of transportation. In the tandem were several trained dogs owned by Prof. Asher.

Evolution of Fashions Depicted.
Alessandro's band followed, playing patriotic and popular airs, preceding the section of the parade in which was depicted the evolution of styles. This section was headed by the longest float that has ever appeared in a Waco parade, being almost forty feet in length. It represented a scene around an Indian camp, including a canoe, camp fire and tent. On the float was a number of the members of the Camp Fire Girls club, dressed in their Indian costumes. Those on the float, their Indian name and the meaning of their Indian name follow:

Po Ta wa Tomie Tejas—People of the Place of the Fire.
Lorine Higginbotham, guardian—Alah, to point out the way.
Velma Horn, Ahneah, roseflower.
Mancie Schroeder, Adidaumo, squirrel.
Ethel Spencer, Aktatci, friendship.
Anna Culver, Anpao, rising sun.
Ayita Holt, Ayita, generous.
Elizabeth Skinner, Lexe, clover.
Barbara Burr, Mondamin, growing grain.
Helen Goodman, Naquiso, star.
Shirley Gage, Wakmusa, butterfly.
Loise Tesson, Shannah, musical.
Tapa Wingo Tejas—People of the Place of Joy.
Mavoine Evans, guardian—Hantawee, faithful.
Marguerite Hunt, Zit-kah-lah-shah, contented.
Jennie Bees Holmes, Tahn, innocent.
Dorothy Jablonowski, Murne, happy.
Catherine Mayfield, Salali,

worker; Frances Prescott, Waburn Annum, morning star; Anne Lee Stanford, Niabi, deer; Nya Belle Speshion, A-l-ta, industrious; Whicy Stearns, Ayola, black fox; Loreta Welch, Aponi, butterfly.
Unalja Tejas—Meeting Place of Tejas Friends.
Genevieve Johnson, guardian—Uda, helpfulness.

Helen Basey, Lexse, clover; Vera Jarvie, Currier, Downahovee, singing voice; Margaret Duncan, Pauli, shy; Jane Hall, Antichenna, wishbone; Margaret Lunsford, Wakmusa, butterfly; Frances Nash, Wahwahwastay, beautiful; Susan Reeves, Chahpahwee, beaver; Albert Ann Starr, Solaskwa, laughing sun; Elizabeth Watson, Yomee, a star; Louise Womack, Minnetoska, happy laughter; Joycelin Woody, Sankrow, sing and grow; Lallie Dodson, Hantawee, faithful; Olga Kraft, Kila, true heart.

The next float presented the styles of the pioneer days, showing a spinning wheel and old-time fireplace. Characters on the float dressed in styles of this period were descendants of the original pioneer families of Central Texas. They were Mrs. Peter Williams, who was formerly Miss Gyp Ross; Miss Evelyn Moore Bondurant; Miss Elizabeth Moore Burroughs; Mrs. Susan Baker; Miss Jane Dodd Moore and John Holt. An old negro "mammy" was also on the float.
The belles of fifty years ago were seen dressed in costumes in line with that period, riding in one of the old-fashioned Victoria carriages. This float was the pride of the owners of that time. An old-time negro "darkey" drove the carriage and the occupants were Miss Katherine Risher and Miss Eleanor Cameron.

Debutantes Appear Again.
The debutantes who took such a prominent part in the parade of Tuesday night were next in the parade on a very pretty float which was a typical scene of a tea party. This float was especially decorated and was one of the most elaborate that has been presented during the style show. The debutantes attending the tea were Misses Pauline McLendon, Katherine O'Connell, Frances Hays, Ethel Foster, Ruth Evans, Anna Fry Jones and Fay Clinton. This ended the section of the parade showing the evolution of styles, the spectators having been shown the fashions that will be worn by Milady of the 1916 spring and summer.

The evolution of transportation, which was a unique feature in itself, was next headed by an old Indian drag, a pack mule of the Mexican, of the type of the early days of the west. A late model motorcycle with a sidecar was next and then a number of touring cars of the latest makes and designs.

Automobile Fashions Shown.
The automobile section was one that would have been a credit and would have compared favorably with many of the motor car shows held throughout the country. It included the newest designs, made up with every combination of comfort, luxury and service that auto factories were capable of, and study could design. Cars for service and cars for pleasure, monster touring cars fitted up with every convenience conceivable for the party making the trip of miles or of pleasure seeking, and cars of the runabout type, built for use in the crowded districts and for the business man were among the models.

Not only the newest models were on display, but cars representing the pioneer auto factories mingled in the transportation section of the parade. These cars showing the earlier models showed the rough model of car before the years of study and development along the lines of comfort and convenience. W. Swady was driving the first car in the section. This was one of the old style Stedman Duryea type, owned and used by Mr. Swady since 1894. It was a striking contrast to the Willis Auto company. It was an 1899 model and is a striking contrast

CENTRAL GRAMMAR SCHOOL CELEBRATES INDEPENDENCE DAY

Due to the fact that there is no auditorium at the Central Grammar school, the Texas history pupils found it necessary to make the rounds of their ten different class rooms yesterday morning in order to give their "Texas Independence Day" program which they had prepared under the direction of Miss Lucy May Johnson, instructor in Texas history. But they were given a cordial welcome at the several rooms and the diversion proved a very acceptable one.

The program included the reading of a poem, "Hail, Texas Day," by Mrs. Susan Thornton Price of this city; the reading of the story of Texas independence, written for the occasion by Miss Johnson, and the singing of the Texas Song of Liberty (C. D. Stuart) by the class.

Mrs. Price's poem follows:

"Texas Day, we welcome thee,
And lift our hearts to God in praise;
For noble men that set us free,
That fought and bled in early days,
Our Empire State now holds her sway
Because her sons were tried and true."

Resume of Historical Significance.

Here is the resume of the events culminating in Texas independence as prepared by Miss Johnson:

"At Old Washington on the Brazos, about 150 miles below Waco, on March 2, 1836, forty-seven men signed the document which declared Texas a free, sovereign and independent republic, looking to the Great God of Nations for its care and protection. These men were in convention assembled, and represented the Texas colonists, who had for fifteen years borne the unjust treatment of Mexico."

"Although invited to colonize its wilderness, the Anglo-American population had been cruelly disappointed by the unjust laws made. So they decided that when a government has ceased to protect the lives, liberty and property of its people, these people have the right of the first law of nature—self-preservation—and besides, they owe the people that are to come after them the right to abolish such a government and create another."

"They did, and each year we Texans set aside this day, March 2, in Liberty's name, and to do honor to the men who gave their time and their brains and their lives (many of them) to win the independence which they declared should be theirs and ours, just eighty years ago."

"All the state banks are closed, because the state legislature has declared this day a state holiday in Texas. It means as much to the Lone Star State as the Fourth of July means to each of the forty-eight states."

"And as members of the Texas history class of Central Grammar school, we have come to remind you, it is a sacred day to every right thinking boy and girl on our rolls."

"Why the state legislature appropriated $10,000 to buy fifty acres of land in and around Old Washington on the Brazos, because it is sacred ground, they also appropriated, in 1907, $10,000 to place a suitable monument over Houston's grave on his old home place in Huntsville, Texas. This is also the anniversary of this great man's birth, and each year upon this day the Sam Houston Normal school is assembled at his grave to do honor to his memory, and in gratitude for the freedom which we enjoy because of such men—the pioneers of Texas."

"And we can leave no better suggestion with you than that contained in words taken from this public speech of this superior man: 'All my thoughts and all my hopes are with my country.'"

Participating in the program were the following pupils: Chandler Richards, Walter Reese, Iva Mae Bain, Juanita Wiseman, Willie Clay, Helen Ellsworth, Sophia Goldberg, Edward Simpson, Bernice Neville, Irene Clay, Edna Jones, Frances Wilson, Barney Salter, George Fall, Allan McMillan, Fay McAnally, A. C. Rowles, Vashti Green, Julius Berkman, Jake Schwartz, Conally Ludwig, Wallace Sparks, Zelma McGhee, Ruby Jeanes, Buford Penland, Charles Westbrook, Odie Ann, Louise Castenaga, Willie Mae Kendall, Ottilie Howell, R. Famous Artist to Give Demonstration at Wm. Cameron's

In an effort to promote the study and appreciation of art and paint tapestry, the Wm. Cameron Co. has brought to Waco something of interest to every person of good taste and an opportunity for lovers of art to learn tapestry and china painting.

A public demonstration will be given in the show window of the Cameron store on Austin street today from 2 to 5.

By a certain method the design is stamped on the cloth and china, with the use of a special machine, and the remainder is apparently a simple matter.

The demonstrator is Edward F. Christman, an artist of note in that kind of work.

"This art," declares Mr. Christman, "occupies a distinct place among the fine arts. It allows unlimited possibilities of the various methods of execution and application. It is a fashionable art and was introduced into America from Paris through a few specimens remarkable for depth and delicacy of color."

"The material employed is a kind of pliable canvas and the pigments used are oil paints and kerosene or turpentine. These are rubbed into the canvas, producing a velvety effect, and rendering it easy to obtain delicate lines or very minute detail and finish. The work is best suited for landscape or decorative figure painting, or for paintings of still life."

Art Smith Suing Wife for Divorce

By the Associated Press.
San Francisco, March 2.—The first recorded elopement in an airplane encountered its second smash today when Arthur ("Art") Smith, aviator, filed suit for divorce.

His wife was Aimee Cour of Port Wayne, Ind. He charged cruelty and that his wife's affections were elsewhere. Smith and Miss Cour's elopement was made difficult by the collapse of the machine and both were badly hurt. They were married at Hilldale, Mich., in October, 1913. The bride was in a hospital cot today, said in a wheel chair. He sailed today for Japan.

AUDITORIUM.

"The Garden of Allah."

March 9 is the date of the Liebler company's stupendous stage production of "The Garden of Allah," a dramatization of the Robert Hichens novel of the same name, by himself and Mary Anderson de Navarro.

Nine artful settings combine to make the production a masterpiece of stagecraft, and the stellar array of histrionic talent presenting the play serves to make the entire entertainment the most brilliant offering of the season.

The narrative upon which this gorgeous spectacle is based is of "Boris Androvsky," a monk, who, driven by the natural instincts of every man, balks at the restraint of his religious vows and escapes from his cell in the monastery to the desert, where he meets, loves and marries "Domini Esfildien." But after a mutual revelation of the identity of each the monk returns to seclusion at the command of Domini, and she devotes herself to their unborn child.

Throughout the wonderful series of stage pictures, native Arabs, dancing girls and the beasts of the forest fill the stage, lending a rare tinge of reality to this spectacular offering. The climax of the magnificent settings is reached in the scene of Count Anton's garden, where the riot of tropical color is delightful. Sharing honors with that scene is the famous sandstorm on the stretch of desert, in which real sand is utilized, enhanced by magical lighting effects. Edna Mayo as Domini Esfildien injects into her portrayal all the necessary romanticisms of the role and her audiences have been most enthusiastic over her work. Playing opposite Miss Latimer is Lawson Butt as Boris, the monk, and in the great confession scene they exhibit their emotional and dramatic powers to excellent advantage.

Among the other principals are Howard Gould as Count Anton, Albert Andrus as Father Roubler and William Jeffrey as Captain de Trevignac, fit admirably into the play.

The Arabs, horses, camels, donkeys, goats, pigeons, etc., lend an artistic atmosphere to this wonderful scenic spectacle.

The entire cast and production is exactly the same as seen at the Century theatre, New York City, during its run of one year in that city.

HIPPODROME.

"The Witch."

The combination of an internationally famed star who has also won her thousands of friends in the pictures and Victorian Sargon's great play, "The Sorceress," cannot fail to set a standard of excellence in motion picture production. And this very combination is found in the last Fox picture, "The Witch," playing at the Hippodrome today. For "The Witch" is the screen adaptation of "The Sorceress," and follows the original story very closely, and beautiful Nance O'Neil, whose portrait hangs in the Hall of Fame at the San Francisco exposition as the most representative actress from the state of California, is the star, Zora Hernandez. Miss O'Neil has been in this role for so long that it has become inseparably associated with her stage career, until it would seem entirely out of place for any one else to be cast as Zora. Stuart Holmes plays the heavy part in this great play, Cardina, a Mexican general; this splendid character actor is fast becoming one of the most popular and is winning a place for himself in the affections of the picture public equal to any of the artists of the screen. Alfred Hickman, in the role of Mendoza, was the original Little Billie in "Tribby" Macey Harlam, called the wickedest man in the world because of his parts in stage plays, won his first real fame as the beggar in "Kismet." June Janin is a new screen player making her debut in "The Witch" as an ingenue.

June Miller is well known for her former work and plays well in this picture as Delores. There are many other excellent characters in the cast, all of whom deserve mention.

The production furnishes an endless playground for the emotional talents of Nance O'Neil. It abounds in strange and startling situations, and is of the red-blood type that thrills the heart and soul. It is one continuous series of powerful incidents in which love, passion, intrigue and romance are pleasingly blended. The scenes are laid in a rugged and romantic country, and nothing has been left undone to make the screen version equal the story of the stage.

"The Witch" will play at the Hippodrome today and tomorrow.

FRENCH LINER FACES SUBMARINE PERIL: UNARMED, BUT GERMAN TORPEDO FEARED

The Lafayette.

The French liner Lafayette, which sailed from New York last Saturday, will be the first big vessel of a belligerent line to enter hostile waters after Germany's edict goes into effect on March 1 that all armed merchantmen shall be subject to attack as warships. While the Lafayette is unarmed, some of her American passengers received mysterious warnings before sailing that the vessel would be sunk by a German submarine without notice.

PSYCHOLOGY OF THE PIG.

Prof. Yerkes Points Out Some Traits That Are Almost Human.

Psychologically speaking, the pig is more nearly akin to man than any other animal is, excepting the ape—of which too much has been said already. The pig, according to Professor Yerkes of Harvard, addressing the American Psychological association, learns by experience, and is almost as receptive to certain ideas as we of the genus homo, are. For instance, the pig learns by experience where to find food and how to find it in the quickest manner. (Any man who can do that with regularity and ease is highly intelligent, we will admit. Finding food quickly and in quantity is one of the highest psychological attributes.) Professor Yerkes illustrates his point thus:

"For instance, they obtain the idea of mindless, so to speak, from the following test: Take five boxes with two doors in them and place food in the central one. Let the pig find it there several times. Then try it with three and with seven. Pigs will learn to select the middle box."

In this connection we recall the experience of an Illinois farmer who kept his pigs in a timber pasture and was in the habit of beating with a stick on the feed trough, which was a hollow log, to call them to their meals. They learned to recognize the summons and its meaning, and never failed to respond. (The pig is as regular at meals as man is.) But a curious psychological thing happened to the Illinois hogs in consequence of their learning the signal. One day a woodpecker began drumming on a hollow tree. Thinking it was dinner time, the hogs ran to the trough and finding it empty, they went crazy. The woodpecker kept on drumming and the hogs ran wildly up and down searching the pasture till they dropped from sheer exhaustion. Incidentally, it strikes us that there is a good deal of similarity between a woodpecker's drumming on a hollow tree and a professor of psychology drumming on a lecture rostrum—we would all go crazy if we took him seriously.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

FOSSIL OF DRAGON IS FOUND IN CHINA

DISCOVERY IN PRE-HISTORIC ICE CAVE AT ICHANG DYNASTIC SYMBOL.

Superstitious Mongolians Believe Sign Means Yuan's Family Will Rule for 10,000 Years.

Peking, Feb. 27.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Superstitious Chinese have recently been greatly excited by rumors which are spreading throughout the republic concerning the discovery of the fossil of a dragon five hundred feet long in a prehistoric cave at Ichang in Sze-chuen province. The chamber of commerce at Ichang, members of the schools and prominent citizens memorialized the central government on the subject, saying: "Now a monarch has arisen like a dragon, and the foundation for a dynasty of ten thousand years is to be laid. The fossil of a divine dragon has appeared in the regions along the Yangtze river. It is a symbol of the protection of heaven and the joy of the people. It is therefore requested that a telegram be sent to the throne to bring to the notice of the public the discovery of the stone dragon at Ichang, and the fact referred to the bureau of history to have it recorded for the information of posterity. Thus the signs of heaven for prosperity of the nation will be appreciated and the desires of the people will be fulfilled."

This memorial was widely printed throughout China, and attracted very much attention, especially among the uneducated persons. In an effort to refute the rumor that the government was responsible for the circulation of this story in such a general manner, the president issued a mandate directing all attempts to capitalize superstition and urging the public to bring about general enlightenment.

"It is," says the mandate, "absurd to get excited over matters which cannot be understood and to try to interpret everything as a sign of peace and prosperity. The request to refer the above fossil to the bureau of history for record is not approved. However, as the ancient fossil deposited in the cave of mountains may serve as material for research, the governor and Chiang Chun are hereby instructed to make the local officials responsible for its preservation, thus instituting investigations."

J. O'Malley Irwin, who was a member of the party which discovered the dragon last October, was accompanied by M. Hewlett, the British consul at Ichang, and a number of other foreigners. He has recently published an account of the exploration. The cave in which the dragon fossil was discovered is at the upper end of the Ichang gorge, near a customs station called Ping Shan Pa. The Chinese call the cave Shen K'an Tzu. In describing the discovery, Mr. Irwin says: "A large rock is seen at the entrance to the cave and about eight yards behind this is a peculiar piece of rock somewhat like the coil of a large reptile. This resemblance, faint as it is, evidently appealed to the Chinese mind, for we were informed that the cave was sometimes called the dragon cave. It was reported to extend for fifty li, or about seventeen miles, and to lead to the 'Lung Wong Tung,' or 'Cave of the dragon king' situated near Ichang."

In former years many foreigners had penetrated far beyond the spot where the fossils are now plainly visible, so that it seems likely that they have been recently uncovered, probably by a heavy discharge of water through the cave.

"When with the lighted lanterns we had penetrated about one hundred yards we found ourselves walking along a ridge in order to keep out of the surrounding pools of water. It was the peculiar serpentine course of this ridge which excited our curiosity and led to a closer examination which revealed the fact that we were walking along the back of what was the fossil of a dragon. The dragon was carved in stone, and that there were six or eight of these 'stone dragons' lying coiled together. Additional lights in the shape of flares of bamboo rope and the examination of some pieces of scale informed us that the supposed stone carvings were in reality fossils."

"Having no means of measuring the specimens we agreed to return to the cave early in the following morning to take measurements and make such further investigations as the short time at our disposal would admit. The measurements and facts ascertained upon our return were as follows: The largest fossil was between sixty and seventy feet from a point where the head was partially buried in the cave wall to the first point of contact with any of the specimens, thus showing the length to be at least between sixty and seventy feet and it seemed to us that the same reptile extended for another sixty or seventy feet, but owing to the intermingling of coils of various reptiles at this point error is possible here and confirmation or otherwise must be left to more skillful observers with plenty of time at their disposal. "The depth of the portion of body uncovered and shown in photo No. 1 was two feet. Two legs or paddles partially uncovered were observed about twelve or fourteen feet from the head and another pair about forty or fifty feet from the same point. The head appeared to be large and flat. It seems probable that the specimen examined is a fossil of a Morosaurus Campert and that it and the other reptiles were trapped in the cave in past ages and then subjected to death. Comparison between the length of the reptile and the depth of the body and its thinness would also point to starvation as the cause of death."

"An account of the discovery, accompanied by flashlight photographs and some specimens of scale have been sent to England and will be submitted to expert examination at the British museum. Specimens and photographs have also, I believe, been sent to Tokyo for expert examination. The various experts will doubtless in due time pronounce judgment as to the genuineness of the fossils, but in any case whether the specimens are in the meantime looked upon as fossils, stone carvings or peculiar water formations in the soft limestone, they will, I venture to predict, remain objects of extraordinary interest and nothing short of the definite pronouncement of experts will convince the ordinary unskilled observer that they are anything else but fossils."

Apprehensive.

What are you going to tell your constituents when you get home? "Too soon to think about that," replied Senator Sorghum; "if some of the harsh criticism going on in my district keeps up, maybe I ain't going home."—Washington Star.

MARKET REPORT

COTTON

New York. By the Associated Press. New York, March 2.—While general business continued quiet, the cotton market showed a decided tone today. May contracts selling up to 11.60 during the afternoon, or 17 points above last night's closing price and 26 points above the recent low level. Slight reactions followed, with May closing at 11.55 and with the general list steady at a net advance of 3 to 15 points. Trading was extremely quiet during the early session. Liverpool made a relatively steady showing and the market here opened at an advance of 7 points on March 1 and 1 to 3 points on later deliveries. After selling up another 2 or 3 points the market showed little feature until early in the afternoon when a few buying orders arrived here from New Orleans and Memphis. This demand was accompanied by reports of an improved spot demand in New Orleans, while a more favorable view of the spot situation was encouraged by the absence of the scattered selling that has been one of the depressing features recently and the demand from shorts became more active. March was dull but relatively firm, selling up to 11.41 or 13 points net higher, while July touched 11.73 and October 11.56 with May and late deliveries showing net gains of about 13 to 17 points. Demand failed to broaden materially on this bulge and closing prices showed setbacks of 4 or 5 points from the best under realizing.

New Orleans. By the Associated Press. New Orleans, March 2.—The cotton market here had a firm undertone today, and the advance in the session through. Just when it was showing the most strength, however, and was at a net rise of 15 to 16 points, a talk from Washington checked the buying and brought about a reaction. This was well toward the close. Final prices were at a net gain of 10 to 15 points. The main influence at work were the covering of the short interest and rather general reports of an improvement in the spot market. The afternoon session was a halt, did not entirely destroy the gains of the morning, which closed steady.

On the opening prices were 3 to 4 points up on better cables than due. The rise was gradually increased until at noon the trading months were 10 to 11 points up. The best prices were reached in the early afternoon.

WHEAT

By the Associated Press. Chicago, March 2.—Nervousness over Washington developments in regard to possible results of German attacks on armed merchant vessels had a bearish effect today on the wheat market here. The outcome was an unsettled close, 1/4¢ down, with May at $1.11 1/4 and July at $1.08 1/4. Corn finished a shade to 1/4¢ off, unchanged to 1/4¢ up and provisions with gains of 5¢ to 20¢.

Reports that President Wilson said war between the United States might help civilization and bring the European conflict to an end by mid-summer were coincident with the most decided downturn of the day in the price of wheat. Quick announcement, however, that such utterances had been denied by Senator Lodge followed by a recovery in the market, although values continued to show as during most of the preceding time today an evident tendency to range lower than yesterday's finish.

Corn averaged lower with wheat. Oats developed a little strength on account of signs of liberal buying for the seaboard.

Provisions were helped forward by the higher quotations on hogs.

No man with collars alone can pretend to be fashionably or completely dressed, yet mine are crowding out all my other wearing apparel. I see a time coming when nothing but seclusion and collars will be left to me; so I say in my exasperation and trouble that I envy and admire the "Cyclonic" statesman previously mentioned. Yet I hear that even he has lately fallen a victim to this passion for self-adornment. If so, it is a satisfaction at least to know that no one is altogether exempt—"Choler," in New York Sun.

SANGER BROTHERS PRESENT FASHIONS OF RARE BEAUTY

THOUSANDS PACK PROMENADE ROOM FOR EXHIBITION BY EXPERT LIVING MODELS.

EXHIBITIONS CONTINUE TODAY

Performances at 9:45 and 2:30—Entire Sanger Store Open for Inspection by Visitors at Night.

Beautiful living models from New York, revealing the fads and fancies for the coming spring and summer seasons, proved to be one of the most attractive features of Waco's Spring Style Show when they appeared at three exhibitions yesterday before exceedingly large audiences that packed the promenade room at the Sanger Brothers' department store. It had been announced that this fashion exhibition would surpass any ever before attempted by Sanger Brothers. It did eclipse all previous exhibitions and will be hard to beat when this firm attempts to present the next season's styles.

Vast crowds filed in and out of the store all yesterday, viewing the elaborately decorated departments, all arranged with a touch of spring and presenting the very latest in the lines of merchandise carried by this establishment. The immense displays for spring and summer included everything that is authentic and correct for the styles of these seasons. In the display was included a complete stock of the up-to-the-minute styles in women's and misses' millinery, suits, dresses, gowns, skirts, waists, costumes, wraps, footwear and dress accessories.

It was a brilliant and impressive presentation of styles in women's wear. It took well with the Waco audience and should be long remembered as an ideal and comprehensive manner in which to put the fashions before the public. Several years ago when Sanger Brothers attempted to present the styles in this manner it was mostly an experiment for this part of the country. Its popularity grew and the show which is now being given is similar to the ones given in the largest eastern cities and which attract many thousands of people.

Styles as displayed at the exhibitions yesterday at Sanger Brothers include contributions from the world's leading designers. Since the public has been convinced that they can depend on the firm for the latest in styles, they have looked forward with great interest to the event of this spring. At the three performances yesterday the crowds began arriving early and when the time arrived for the start every one of the 1200 seats in the promenade room were taken, the aisles crowded and several hundred people waiting in order that they might get to see the superb display.

Exhibitions were given at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and at 7:15 o'clock last night. The entire store was open last night and the public allowed to visit the various departments. Only the soda fountain remained open for business after 6 o'clock last night, and nothing could be bought from any of the other departments.

Musical numbers were given by the Alessandro orchestra, which consisted mostly of late popular music. At the afternoon exhibition vocal numbers were given by Miss Edora Stanford, a popular Waco vocalist.

Repeat Exhibitions Today.
The fashion exhibition will be repeated twice today, at 9:45 o'clock this morning and at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The public in general is invited to attend. Sanger Brothers is the only firm in Central Texas that has adopted the method of presenting the styles in living models secured from the large Eastern cities.

The style exhibition formally opens the spring season at Sanger Brothers. In order that the public might be pleased with the occasion, the management left no details untouched in making the event one grand success.

The promenade is beautifully decorated, and the white way promenade is covered with a canopy of running roses and butterflies, which forms a handsome setting for the exhibition of spring fads and fancies. None of the models has ever appeared in this city until the exhibitions of yesterday. They are direct from New York and with latest experience in their line of work.

Results Already Achieved Stamp C. of C. Campaign as Waco's Supremest Effort

Unusual progress was reported yesterday by the committees in charge of the campaign to increase the membership of the local Chamber of Commerce and everything points to a most successful campaign which will mean a great deal for the welfare and progress of this city. It is planned to reorganize this commercial organization and to install a traffic department, something that has long been needed if Waco is to go forward as one of the commercial centers of this state.

According to President Harry M. Bolton, the committees have been warmly received by merchants of the city and are deeply interested in the movement. They seem to realize that it is also for their welfare for Waco to have an adequate traffic bureau which would protect the freight rates here.

The committee that led in the reports made yesterday noon at a luncheon given by the committees at the Raleigh hotel was composed of E. R. Bolton, C. P. Link and Ralph McLendon. Members of this committee visited twenty-three people not members of the organization in an effort to increase their contributions which is on the two-year basis. Prior to the visit of the committees their total sum amounted to $864, but through the efforts of the committees this amount was increased to $3756. Although this was the best record since yesterday, several others were almost as good and this is only one example what is being accomplished by this organization.

The present campaign looking forward to the building up of the Chamber of Commerce and the organizing of the freight department is the outgrowth of the semi-annual banquet held recently at the Raleigh hotel, at which time resolutions were unanimously adopted urging that the Waco Chamber of Commerce fall in line with other commercial organizations of the leading cities of the south and install a traffic department. The resolutions further stated that this was the most beneficial work the Chamber of Commerce could do during the present year.

In order that the freight rates of Waco can be protected, a department of this kind is absolutely necessary. Fort Worth and Houston and other cities of the state make the traffic department one of the leading departments in connection with the commercial organizations. Waco's future not only rests on the installing of such a department, but if this city is to maintain its present commercial standing, their rates must be protected.

President Daine appointed a special committee last night, composed of E. R. Bolton, E. W. Marshall and J. M. Penland, to interest manufacturers located outside of Waco who have either branch offices, agents or representatives in this city, in the project to organize the traffic department, as it will also be of benefit to them. Manufacturers when seeking a location usually first investigate the freight rates and next what protection that city has on its rates.

With the organized corps from the Chamber of Commerce now at work on the project, this campaign is the biggest of its kind ever attempted here. It will no doubt result in Waco getting a well-organized traffic bureau, one that will protect the rates here and will be the greatest asset the city has had in many years and something that at present is greatly in demand.

At 12:15 o'clock today a luncheon will be held at the State House which will be attended by the members of the committee. Reports will be made from the campaign work and means of further extending the campaign will be discussed.

College Spirit Rampant at Independence Banquet Texas U. Ex-Students

College spirit and college pep was in evidence everywhere during the annual meeting and banquet of the McLennan County Association of Ex-Students of Texas University held last night in the gold room of the Raleigh hotel. Over 100 Waco and McLennan county prominent men and women forgot for the time being that they were responsible officers of affairs and seemed to be taken back to the time when they were students of the university at an annual election held while still students instead of electing officers of an ex-students' association. Witty and entertaining reminiscences were told with the same old fire as though they had happened in the near past, telegrams from similar clubs of the state were read and an answering telegram sent out to each, all full of life, enthusiasm and of loyal spirit that builds up great institutions of all kinds and especially a university.

A social hour was held preceding the banquet in which all present became acquainted, renewed old acquaintanceships, recalled mutual memories and became as one big class again enjoying the pleasure of the old-time soirees.

Cole New President.
George W. Cole was elected president of the association last night. The other officers elected for the ensuing year were J. Walter Cooke, first vice president; Miss Madeline Cuffin, second vice president; Miss Grace Prather, re-elected secretary-treasurer. The three delegates forming with the officers of the club the executive committee also acted during the evening, those selected being Miss Annie Forsgard, Bart Moore Jr. and Edgar Harold.

Following the election of officers, telegrams from Beaumont, Dallas, Gateville and Lubbock associations were read by President E. E. Witt. These telegrams all extended heartiest good will, pledging love and union and willingness for mutual helpfulness in maintaining the university's standards and in helping to uphold it to a higher position.

Telegram from W. J. Battle, acting president of the university, was read which sent loving greetings from your alma mater to her sons and daughters in Waco. Let us today pledge ourselves afresh to the preservation of the spirit that won Texas independence and to the upbuilding of a nobler commonwealth, the telegrams read in part a similar message from Will C. Hogg of Houston, of the board of regents, was read also, calling upon the ex-students to uplift the university by their help and co-operation with the regents.

Greetings to Alma Mater.
Answering telegrams to the university clubs of this nature were sent by assembly last night which read: "Ex-students and alumni of University of Texas assembled around the banquet board 150 strong send greetings and join you in pledging bigger and better loyalty and devotion to our state and alma mater." This was also sent to the president at Austin and to Mr. Hogg.

Under the capable and witty guidance of Postmaster Lud Williams, who claimed to be one of the oldest students of the university present, the time passed rapidly and pleasantly. Each speaker vied with the other in telling the most amusing incident during their career at Varsity, much to the enjoyment of all.

Edgar Harold was called upon to read the address of Yancey Lewis, professor of law, which was first delivered at the university auditorium on March 2, 1902. The address was "The True Spirit for Independence Day" and was one of the greatest orations ever delivered by a Texas man on this subject. At each plate was a copy of the address, with a likeness of the great law professor.

New York and Dallas Celebrate Texas Natal Day Together

Special to the Morning News.
Dallas, Texas, March 2.—With 2,200 miles of space intervening, ex-students of Texas university, gathered at the McAlpin hotel in New York and at the Chamber of Commerce banquet hall in Dallas, this evening listened together on a specially prepared long distance telephone line, while speakers at both cities proposed toasts in celebration of Texas Independence Day.

The conversation lasted an hour and one feature of it was a toast by Acting President Battle of the Texas university, who talked from Austin. Every word was heard as distinctly as though it had not been long distance. The line carrying the conversation was 2,200 miles long and contained 1,000 tons of copper. This is one of the longest long distance conversations ever held.

STANDING out in brilliant contrast the magnificent Opening and Fashion Show at Sanger Brothers has in the first day emphasized more forcefully than we had even anticipated that the people of this community and the surrounding territory know of, and appreciate that the Sanger Fashion Show is the Fashion event of the season. The entire store, every section, was crowded throughout the day with throngs of eager people. They came, they witnessed the displays and they bought. More merchandise was sold yesterday than ever before on the first day of an Opening.

It's a Scotch saying that "Where McGregor sits is the head of the table," and it's a Texas saying that "The Styles at the Sanger Store are authentic." Openings and Fashion Shows will come and go, but the people of Texas will always look to the Sanger Store for the Authentic Portrayal of Fashion.

Formal Opening Today of City Detention Hospital

The formal opening of the new city detention hospital will be held today between the hours of 10 and 4. The Morning News is asked by Public Health Commissioner Cockcroft to extend a cordial invitation to the public, especially physicians and members of organizations that have shown interest, to inspect the new hospital today.

Mr. Cockcroft, City Physician D. Baker and other officials of the public health department, as well as some of the commissioners, will be present. The new city detention hospital, which was built to replace the old frame "pest house" destroyed by fire several months ago, is of the most modern construction throughout. All interior work is of concrete. The outside walls being faced with brick, and floors are of concrete. The roof is of steel, making a completely fireproof structure. Adequate facilities for bathing, instantaneous heaters for hot water and sterilizing, sewerage, etc., are provided in the building. The new building was formally received from the contractors by the city commissioner yesterday.

Enough of the equipment for the hospital to allow its use in an emergency has already arrived, and will be exhibited today, although as yet no patients have been received into the building. A trained nurse will be on duty today.

The detention hospital is for the treatment of persons suffering from contagious diseases, which class of patients are not admitted to the Providence sanitarium used by the municipality for other cases. Commissioner Cockcroft and other members of the city commission are somewhat elated with the new hospital, believing that it will be a delight to many who have had justification for complaints regarding the old building. It is for this reason that it was decided to open the building formally today, and invite all persons interested to inspect it.

The hospital is located at Third and Marlboro streets, and can be reached from the city by going out North Fifth to Marlboro, or out North Third.

Miss Beulah Duncan Appears in Recital Next Monday Night

It has been all the while been freely predicted that the recital at the Central Christian church next Monday evening, March 6, in which Miss Beulah Duncan is the principal, in song, assisted by Anton Navratil, violinist, and F. Arthur Johnson, pianist, will prove a pleasant surprise to this Waco young lady's intimate friends.

In order to more fully appreciate this prediction, one has merely to refer to the program printed below, and which has been most carefully prepared for presentation. The rendition will be well worthy a large audience, which present indications and expressions clearly promise.
